

KEY IS EXONERATED FOR 'WET' STATEMENT; COUNCIL CLAMPS LEAD IN LIQUOR IN ATLANTA

Congressmen Called to Reapportionment Parley

CRISP SUMMONS HIS COLLEAGUES TO SESSION HERE

Conference of Georgia Delegation Set for June
25; No Plan To Offer Legislation on Redistricting, Leaders Assert.

HARRIS, GEORGE URGE ENACTMENT

Both Senators Believe Assembly Should Dispose of Problem During Coming Session.

Congressman Charles R. Crisp, of Americus, has called a meeting of the members of the Georgia delegation in the lower house of congress to be held at the Robert Fulton hotel at 3 o'clock Thursday, June 25, to consider the state's redistricting problem.

Some members who have been invited to the meeting said Monday they expected to attend with the understanding that the purpose was to form a cohesive movement to impress upon the general assembly the importance to the state of reapportionment legislation this year and preferably at the regular session.

"All the members of the delegation have been invited to a conference in Atlanta," Congressman Crisp said, "only to consider the importance of getting action on the redistricting matter. I have no plan and I doubt that any other member has any particular plan. I am of the opinion that this matter should be left to the wisdom of the legislature, but am also of the opinion that a conference of the delegation might prove helpful to the legislature in its handling of the matter."

"We are not," he added, "planning to spend any considerable time in Atlanta, or establish any headquarters of the delegation."

Asked about reports that the delegation planned to pool interests on all lines have voted in favor of a five-day week, effective July 1,
Crisp said:

"I never heard of any such thing before."

Both of Georgia's United States senators recently urged the legislature to enact redistricting legislation at the session meeting June 24.

Senator Harris said:

"The Georgia legislature has many vital questions confronting it at the next session. The five-day week and redistricting the state and I have faith in their desire and ability to accomplish everything expected of them."

"I cannot conceive," Senator George, in a statement to The Constitution, said, "that the general assembly will do the state the injustice that would be involved in denying each district the right to name its own congressman."

RAILWAY CRAFTSMEN FAVOR 5-DAY WEEK

SALISBURY, N. C., June 15.—(AP)—D. J. Butler, chairman of the federated crafts of Spencer, today said Sunday railway craftsmen on all lines have voted in favor of a five-day week, effective July 1.

A mail vote has been in progress for several weeks. The five-day week was proposed as a means of giving employment to more men.

SMITH'S CHARGES DENIED BY BISHOP

District Court in Charlotte
To Consider Demurrer in Georgia Pastor's Suit.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 15.—(AP)—Bishop Edwin D. Mounzon, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in a demurrer filed here today in United States district court, denied he had ever made any libelous or slandering statement regarding the Rev.
Rembert G. Smith, a Methodist minister of Sparta, Ga.

Mr. Smith, in a $50,000 suit for alleged damages, had charged the bishop of his church libeled and slandered him by referring to him as "an honest but eccentric Methodist preacher" and as a "publicity seeker."

Bishop Mounzon's demurrer will be considered by Judge E. Yates Webb, who has the authority to sustain or overrule it. If it is sustained, the suit against the bishop will be dropped. Otherwise, he will be required to file a formal answer to the minister's complaint. Mr. Smith in his complaint, set forth that the allegedly damaging statements about him were made by Bishop Mounzon at a general conference of the church in Dallas, Texas, in 1930, when he brought charges of "unwarranted political activity" against Bishop Mounzon and three other bishops. The charges against the bishops were dismissed.

Bishop Mounzon, through his attorneys, contends the statements attributed to him were not damaging, that Mr. Smith has suffered no damage in the ministry or other injury because of them.

A similar suit was filed by the Georgia minister against John M.
Moore, of Dallas, Texas, one of the three other bishops named in the charges brought by him in 1930.

WAR DEBTS STAND OF U.S. UNCHANGED

Germany's Payments to Foreign Nations Termed Separate Question.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)— Undersecretary Mills said today the treasury has not changed its attitude on the revision of war debts.

Mills declined to comment further on this topic which has assumed prominence with the departure for Europe of Secretary Mellon and the prospective European tour of Secretary Stimson. Germany has demanded revision.

For years the attitude of the administration has been that German reparations payments to other European powers was a distinctly separate question from war debt payments to the United States.

Undersecretary Castle of the state department, said recently that in the event of an European reparations crisis the United States would approach the question of revision with an open mind.

Atlanta Plans Rousing Welcome For Mayor on Return Next Week

Plans for a rousing welcome of Mayor Key when he returns from his tour of France as guest of the French government were launched Monday at an informal gathering of close friends of the city's chief executive.

The homecoming mayor will be greeted by one of the most impressive displays of public interest ever arranged for a similar occasion, according to the plans which will be participated in by civic organizations and clubs and will include a grand parade from the train to the city hall.

Mayor Key was scheduled to bid farewell to the shores of France today, sailing to America on the Ile de France in company with the mayors of other cities who have been enjoying the official hospitality of the

STARR FAITHFUL DRUGGED, SLAIN, EXPERT DECLARES

Girl Put to Sleep Before Being Placed in Water, Toxicologist States in Mystery Investigation.

MINEOLA, N. Y., June 15.—(AP)—
The finding of an eminent toxicologist that Starr Faithful was drugged into sleep before entering the stormy waters of the Atlantic near Long Beach was regarded by the state tonight as the most important piece of evidence thus far uncovered in its attempt to solve the mystery of the Greenwich Village beauty's death.

Dr. Alexander O. Goettler, of Bellevue hospital, whose work in several celebrated murder cases has aided New York authorities, reported to District Attorney Elvin Edwards, of Nassau county, the dead girl's liver contained sufficient quantities of a narcotic to have put her into a sound sleep, but not enough to have killed her.

An autopsy previously had disclosed she died of drowning and a considerable quantity of sand was found in her lungs, indicating she had been tossed to her death, the state continued, in shallow water.

Defendants expressed the belief at once that the Faithful girl had been drugged before her death and that someone who was with had hung her into the sea, either after administering the narcotic to her or upon becoming frightened at its effects.

Investigators suggested the theory that the girl's companions may have thought her dead and sought to dispose of the body.

The Long Island prosecutor said the toxicologist's finding "definitely places the victim at Long Beach before her death, a fact which defendants had for the last week been trying to clear."

ministered to Starr was expressed by istering the narcotic to her or upon

President Defends Tariff As Business and Farm Aid, Urges Maintenance of Rates

INDIANAPOLIS, June 15.—(AP)— President Hoover tonight called upon the nation to banish fear and pessimism so that America may ride out of the business depression on a broad highway paved with courage and confidence.

Speaking before the Indiana republican Editorial Association, he said this is "our immediate and paramount task as a people." In addition, he saw as the "transcendent momentary need" a larger degree of confidence among our business agencies, a confidence not confined to "mere words."

The chief executive vigorously defended the administration's policies in dealing with the depression, praised the efforts of industry and organized labor to minimize its unfortunate results, and said the "underlying forces of recovery are asserting themselves."

"We have assured the country from panic and its hurricane of bankruptcy by co-ordinated action between the treasury, the federal reserve system, the banks, the farm loan and farm board system."

"We have steadily urged the maintenance of wages and salaries. We have reversed the traditional policy in depressions of reducing expenditures upon construction work and maintaining a steady expansion of ultimately needed construction work in co-operation with states, municipalities, and industries."

"We have sustained the people in 21 states who faced dire disaster from the drought."

"We are giving aid and support to farmers in marketing their crops."

"Through the tariff we are saving our farmers and workmen from being overwhelmed with goods from foreign countries."

"We are holding down taxation by exclusion of every possible governmental expenditure not absolutely essential or needed to increase employment or assistance to the farmers."

"We are rigidly excluding immigration."

"We are maintaining and will maintain systematic voluntary organization in the community in aid of employment and care for distress."

"We shall do so go forward with these major activities and policies."

From each previous depression, Mr.
Hoover said, the nation has emerged with a valuable lesson learned.

"From this one," he added, "we shall gain stiffening and economic discipline, a greater knowledge upon which we shall build a better safeguarded system. We have come out of each previous depression into a period of prosperity greater than ever before. We shall do so this time."

Out of the troubled times, he said, the country will emerge determined to be effected.

MILICAN ATTACK ON WASTE BEATS WATER RATE HIKE

Acting Mayor Scores Loading of City Pay Roll; Increase Loses by 19-to-15 Vote.

Charges that the Atlanta borough government is struggling under a load imposed on it by various bureaucracies, weighed down by politically dominated departments and that many needed employees are carried as "dead weights" on its pay rolls featured council action Monday in refusing to ask elimination of water rate restrictions or establishment of a 10 per cent amusement tax.

Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican quit the presiding officer's chair to hurl the complaints, and said he would never vote to give the government an additional "dime in taxes or any other way until we clean house and get down to brass tacks."

The finance and charter revision committees had recommended favorably a proposal to ask the Georgia assembly to lift water rate restrictions now in the borough charter, thus empowering council to fix the rate. The measure was tabled by a vote of 19 for and 15 against. After that the amusement measure met the same fate, viva voce.

Murphy Fears for Schools.
With both measures through which the finance committee hoped to raise the $1,666,000 necessary to insure operation of schools and other departments for the remainder of the year definitely refused by the council's vote, Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the finance group, expressed "grave fears that the school will be forced to close September 9, because of lack of $1,176,000 to operate them." He said also that borough employees probably would be forced to work a month without pay if other means of raising the money were not found.

Millican's charge resulted in selection of a committee of five to investigate various departments, recommend what conference in which he saw reducing the pay rolls any employees not needed and to devise other measures through which savings may be effected.

The acting mayor heads the "committee" and with him will serve Alderman
L. C. Mosley and Councilmen G. Dan
Briggs, Joseph E. Berman and H. M.
Rabin.

"No inspector of the construction department was paid his last month's salary and it was charged to a paving job in which work was completed last January," Millican told the council in substantiation of his charge that the various departments have men on

GEORGIA TRUSTEES ACCORD FORESEEN COMMEND SOULE

Basis of Agreement Is Reached; Situation Presages Break in Spain.

ATHENS, Ga., June 15.—(AP)—The general board of trustees of the University of Georgia in session here today adopted resolutions commending the president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, Dr. Andrew M. Soule, and said the value of the services of the college to the state
"cannot be computed."

The action of the trustees followed action of the college board commending the work of the college, T. J.
Shackelford, of Athens, a former trustee, and Dr. Soule recently were in-discrepancy as to the value of the work done at the college.

The general board of trustees extended to Dr. Soule thanks for his "able, conscientious and untiring work in directing the affairs of the college," and "success with which his labors have been crowned."

A survey of state education by a committee appointed by the governor with a membership not connected with the Georgia educational system, today was recommended by the board of visitors of the University of Georgia.

The board of visitors made its recommendations to the university board of trustees of which Richard B. Russell, Jr., is chairman, justice of the Georgia supreme court, is chairman, Chairman Russell is the father of the Georgia governor-elect, Richard B. Russell Jr.

The visitors' body also recommended construction of a new library and a girls' dormitory at the university, the employment of a full-time physician and placing of athletics directly under the control of university authorities and that students be charged a $2 athletic fee.

The visitors' facilities at the university, the visitors' board said, were inadequate and recommended that the chancellor, at the proper time, petition the legislature for funds for a larger building and more books.

STATE TO GET RAIN, FORECASTER SAYS

Relief in Sight for Georgia;
North and West
Are Sweltering.

While the northwest swelters, Georgia's drought probably will be relieved by thundershowers and Wednesday,
C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist, said Monday following reports of scattered rains in a great many counties Saturday and Sunday. Atlanta received .67 of an inch of rainfall Sunday.

The peach district especially was benefited by the thundershowers, the weatherman said. Rains expected this week will by no means make up the deficit in precipitation, but they will aid in overcoming a serious situation faced by the farmers. Temperatures today will range from 68 to 89 degrees, the same as on Monday, he added. Atlanta's water supply is in no danger because of the drought, as Mr. von Herrmann said the supply of

U. S. TO CONTINUE SALES OF WHEAT

Farm Board Policy Will Avoid Disturbing World Market in Grains.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—
Chairman Stone said today the farm board's stabilization wheat will be sold abroad so long as it does not disturb the world market.

If a good foreign demand continues, he said, wheat will be offered in keeping with the board's policy of disposing of its huge surplus stocks in a manner that will impose the minimum burden of other competitors.

The board last February set 35,000-000 bushels for sale abroad to clear terminals at seaboard ports. At least 25,000,000 bushels have been sold.

Stone said as much more as can be disposed of in foreign countries without affecting their markets will be offered.

As for sales on the domestic market,
he said, the policy of careful handling of wheat will continue. He said he had promised Kansas grain men a statement on whether the board would withhold the more than 200-000,000 bushels of stabilization wheat from American markets for a year.

Proposals to Hold Grain.
He said he had agreed to submit proposals that the surplus be held off Washington several days before returning to his home in Lincoln, Neb.

His retirement creates the second vacancy on the board. C. C. Teague, vice chairman, resigned June 1. Their successors have not been chosen by President Hoover.

McKelvie submitted a report today on the recent London international wheat conference in which he saw reduction of world production as one of the possible results.

He also said few, if any, of the delegates to the conference had authority to commit their government on an export quota plan and that in some cases it was plainly a case of "political face-saving."

He also denied that what the Russian delegates described as the failure of the conference could be charged to the United States.

In addition to the court hearings, numbering 10 in all, King's appeal for clemency has been before the prison commission and declined. It has never been passed upon by a governor of Georgia.

"In the circumstances of the case,"
Supreme Court Justice Samuel Atkinson wrote the prison commission.
"If I had the pardoning power I would not allow the defendant to suffer the extreme penalty."

This presents the most unusual case of where the supreme court, as will appear from the opinion, would appeal to the governor.

Measure Is Brought To Vote After Long Debate in Busy Session; Many Matters Disposed Of.

With prohibition, water, electric and gas rates, borough finance problems, governmental economies, spiced with charges of pay roll padding, and many other important matters holding the spotlight, council Monday afternoon made the following disposition of the major matters facing it:

Mayor James L. Key, en route home from Paris, where he has been a good-will visitor, was exonerated of any reflection on council or Atlanta in his anti-prohibition views as a censuring paper offered by Councilman John A.
White was definitely tabled.

War against bootlegging was launched by White after his failure to condemn Key, when the council voted to instruct Chief of Police James L. Beavers to enforce the law and pledged the support of council "in enforcing all laws."

The proposal to remove restrictions on water rates was tabled by a vote of 20 to 15, and Alderman
Ben T. Huie's measure to levy $600,000 annually through lease of a 10 per cent amusement tax met the same fate, viva voce.

Immediate start of reconstruction of the Broad street viaduct was assured as the council voted to comply with every stipulation of the Fulton county commissioners in order to insure early completion of the project. The council passed a resolution offered by Alderman John F. Scott, chairman of the bridge committee, which Scott said had the approval of Walter C. Hendrix, chairman of the commission.

Alderman Alvin L. Richards asked establishment of the borough of Atlanta as a county with all rights and powers of other Georgia counties. The latter paper was referred to the charter revision committee for consideration and report back to council.

Advised To Find Easy Way Out, Chicagoan Shoots Self To Death

CHICAGO, June 15.—(P)—Advised in a letter, apparently from his son, "to find an easy way out," R. J. Capron, 60, today shot and killed himself in Lincoln Park. The letter, signed "John," was found in his pocket as was a note in which Capron directed that his body "be dedicated to the service of medical research."

The letter from "John," dated June 2, referred to Capron as "dad" throughout. The postmark was partly obliterated but the word "Illinois" was legible. The writer, after referring to the receipt of a letter from Capron, said: "I am sorry we are losing. I am wishing for you, dear dad, hoping found in his pocket, but it was not for you—wishing you all I can wish."

Too Many Children Are Underweight

Tasteless Diet Often the Reason for This Condition

Mothers are often confronted by the problem of getting their children to eat what is good for them. When they notice that this objection to wholesome food results in loss of weight and lowered vitality they are much disturbed.

The lack of taste-appeal of the food served is often the cause of poor appetites. The cereal may be tasteless; the fruit juice or the stewed fruit too tart or quite insipid; the vegetables uninviting in flavor.

By adding a dash of sugar to these foods they will be much improved in flavor. Doctors approve such use of sugar because it makes those foods which are rich in vitamins, minerals and roughage more enjoyable to the child.

A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular way to season string beans, spinach, carrots, tomatoes and peas. Salt overcomes flatness, and the sugar "brings out" the flavor. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute. —(adv.)

roads this summer, before the advent of bad weather this fall. Engineers said next month's letting would be general and that a part of the projects would be trunk routes now nearing completion.

EAST POINT BLAZE RAZES EMPTY HOUSE

Firemen of the East Point fire department turned themselves into an old-fashioned "bucket brigade" Monday night in order to save a home next to a vacant house on Lakewood avenue, which was totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin.

The vacant house on Lakewood avenue near Lee street was so near gone by the time the firemen from East Point had been notified and arrived on the scene that they had nothing left to do but watch it burn and prevent it from catching a second house, next door. As the fire was more than a mile from the nearest water plug, the men shed the coats, formed a bucket line, and "dunked" the threatened building.

THE INSIDE STORY ON HOW TRUE DETECTIVE MYSTERIES HELPED TO TRAP "THE MOST FEROCIOUS KILLER ALIVE"

WANTED—for Chicago's horrible St. Valentine's Day Massacre! Wanted—for the brutal slaying of a Michigan cop! Wanted by 18 states and the Federal authorities—implicated in at least 21 murders—a price of nearly $100,000 on his head! That's how the hideous record of "Killer" Fred Burke stood when seven heavily armed Missouri detectives burst into his bedroom. In the faint light of approaching dawn the killer's hand clutched for his guns...

Who had sprung this trap—who was behind this capture which prefaced the sensational seizures of other cowardly killers of gangland... Nannery, Crowley, Diamond, "Strangler" Stein? Had an intricate police dragnet finally closed in on Burke, or was he landed through the smart work of some lone professional sleuth? No!—Joseph Hunsaker, Jr., a young unemployed laborer, trapped this monster! Hunsaker had absorbed the foul history of Burke and memorized his pictures from accounts in True Detective Mysteries magazine. So he recognized Burke, lurking behind his smoke screen of respectability and a canny marriage to a decent, well-to-do girl.

Then... but read for yourself Hunsaker's own story, his detective work, his clever shadowing of Burke—how he faced the constant danger of stopping one of the assassin's ruthless bullets! Learn the crooked, bloody trail left by Burke's sixteen year career of viciousness. Read of his childish desire to pose "tough"—of his consuming weakness for pretty women. All the fascinating details of this wolf-man's life—many exclusive official photographs—and three thrilling accounts of Burke's rise and fall—in the JULY issue of TRUE DETECTIVE MYSTERIES! Get your copy today—at any news stand!

THEATER WORKERS OPEN CONVENTION

Opening sessions of the annual convention of the Seventh District Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Motion Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada, were held Monday at the Ansley hotel. The convention will continue through Wednesday.

Luke Arnold, representing Mayor James L. Key, welcomed the more than 200 delegates to Atlanta at the Monday morning session. William P. Raoul, international representative, is presiding at sessions, most of which are executive.

One of the chief subjects of discussion is the question of wage contracts with the theater owners, an issue which is of primary importance at this time.

Several social and entertainment affairs are on the program for the delegates and their wives, while all are guests of the local theaters while in the city.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves
It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription — HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Ja-cobi Drug Store says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile misery or money back—(adv.)

Asks Only Justice for Downer, Says Sutherland, Outlining Case

W. A. Sutherland, Atlanta lawyer, said Monday the federal courts were asked to intervene in the John Downer case because he and other attorneys believed the negro had been deprived of constitutional guarantees by state trial at Elberton, which sentenced the negro to the electric chair on conviction of assaulting a white woman.

Sutherland and other attorneys applied to Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver for a writ of habeas corpus at Macon Saturday. Judge Deaver denied the writ but permitted an appeal to the United States court of appeals at New Orleans, which had the effect of postponing the execution of the negro, which had been set for today at the state penitentiary at Milledgeville.

"We have grave doubts as to the guilt of the accused," Mr. Sutherland said in a written statement. "We shall try to see to it that he is not electrocuted until and unless his guilt is established in a fair trial."

The considerations, however, which have moved us to take up this matter do not concern principally the defendant personally nor the negro race, but greatly transcend in importance the life of any individual or race and go to the very foundation of the guarantee of life and liberty contained in our federal and state constitutions.

"We are fighting to see that when mob lynchings are stopped, the good citizens of this country are fast coming to insist they must be, we shall not compromise with those same mobs by substituting a mere form of trial. We maintain that when an execution is the result of mob passion and violence or the threat thereof, little is gained by the fact that the person and violence is permitted to operate through the machinery of the law. It may well be that the new life is the worse of the two. It is certainly more insidious; being cloaked in the forms of justice."

"It is clearly established by the supreme court of the United States in the 'Klaine riot case,' which went up from Arkansas, that the requirement of the federal constitution that a person shall not be deprived of life or liberty without due process of law is not satisfied by a trial where all the usual forms of justice may be observed, but wherein fact all substance of justice is lacking."

"The substance of justice we maintain is most assuredly lacking in a trial conducted in a land by a community which only six days prior thereto was seeking to lynch six separate suspects and in which the accused could not be given even the form of a trial without the presence of a strong contingent of armed troops."

"The punishment of persons guilty of crime is ordinarily subject to the most unreasonable delays and the public has naturally become displeased with the interposition of technicalities to defeat the ends of justice."

"Many of these technicalities and most of the delays can, and should be eliminated. When they are eliminated, the substance of justice must be left unaltered, and the trials involving life and liberty must be deliberate proceedings in which the guilt or innocence of the accused is fairly considered."

Sutherland said he was serving without compensation and would not accept any fee. He said that three other white lawyers, associated with him, Granger Hansell and Jerome Jones, of Atlanta, and Harris Strosier, of Macon, were also serving without compensation.

The other attorney is A. T. Walden, Atlanta negro.

WOMAN, HIT BY TRUCK, PAINFULLY INJURED

Struck by a laundry truck just as she was about to board a street car at the corner of Pryor street and Ramona avenue early Monday morning, Mrs. Francis Brown Chase, of 477 Pryor street, was painfully injured and removed to her home for treatment.

Passing motorists assisted Mrs. Chase to her home and members of her family Monday night asked the constitution to assist in identifying them.

Negro Caught in Chase.

Charges of disorderly conduct and larceny have been booked against Sam Williams, negro, who was pursued and captured Monday morning by Patrolman Eddie Hughes after stealing several pairs of hosiery in a downtown department store, according to police reports.

Many Prizes To Be Awarded At Big Whip-It Top Contest

The big Whip-It top contest takes place at Piedmont park next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Whip-It top has caught on like wildfire and the youngsters of Atlanta are busy preparing themselves for the big spinning contest which will be conducted to find the best Whip-It top spinner in the city.

Sponsored by The Constitution, the contest will be held Saturday morning to determine who are the four best spinners in the city. This will be followed on Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Keith's Georgia theater by the final contest, when the grand prize winner will be determined.

There are many prizes donated by the various Atlanta merchants all to be awarded Saturday morning. Here they are:

$5 in gold donated by The Atlanta Const. Co., 82 Whitehall street.

$2.50 in gold donated by Sugarman-Hirsch Co.

$2.50 in gold donated by W. T. Grant Co., 82 Whitehall street.

Two pocket knives donated by S. H. Kress Co., 43 Whitehall street.

One kid scooter, S. H. Kress Co., 36 Broad street, S. W.

One-half dozen tennis balls, donated by Lamar & Rankin Drug Co.

One Bonnie B. chromium plated golf club donated by F. & W. Grand 3 and 10 and 25-cent Stores, Inc.

Fifty free tickets to Keith's Georgia theater.

The four best spinners will be selected in the Piedmont park contest Saturday morning and these four will spin it out the following Monday morning on Keith's Georgia stage at the special kiddie show. The winner of this grand final contest will be given a full week's engagement by the theater management, for which he will receive $20 in gold.

The Saturday contest will be in "heats," four boys and girls pitted against each other at a time. After all the entrants have completed one race, there will be only a fourth of them left for the races which will comprise the second heat. One heat will follow another until only four contestants are left. These will be the four who will participate in the final contest at Keith's Georgia theater.

In anticipation of a large crowd of children in attendance at the Keith's Georgia final contest, the management has prepared a special kiddie show which will be the first of a series to be held throughout the summer.

In addition to the prizes already announced, the theater management announces special prizes for a different contest which will be part of the entertainment on Monday morning.

There will be a "kiddie contest" in which any Atlanta child under 12 years of age who can sing, dance, do acrobatics, play an instrument or entertain in any manner at all, may enter. The prizes for this contest are as follows:

$5 in cash, first prize.
$2.50 in cash, second prize.
$2 in cash, third prize.

The only judges in this contest will be the audience. The prizes will go to the children entertainers receiving the most applause.

In addition to the kiddie contest and the Whip-It top finals contest, the Georgia theater management has prepared a program of film features for the event. All children who attend this morning show Monday will be permitted to remain over to see the regular program of screen and vaudeville features. Mothers may accompany their children if they wish, at the regular morning bargain matinee price.

Wilson's letter to the employees read:

"As you know, your term of office under Honorable George H. Carswell, secretary of state, will expire June 27, 1931. This is to advise that your services in that department will not be continued after that date.

"I wish to assure you that this decision is not personal in the least and that you have my best wishes."

BETTER BUSINESS SEEN BY BARKER

The financial and business conditions in Georgia, taken as a whole, compare favorably with those of any state in the union, and by October there will be a decided change toward even better business, it was stated by J. R. Barker, executive vice president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Monday after his return from the annual meeting of the Georgia Association of Commercial Secretaries held in Rome.

He stated that "it was remarkable to hear reports, especially from the south Georgia chambers of commerce, where such advanced progress has been made in the cultivation of various vegetables." "It was ascertained," he continued, "that the farmers throughout the state are adhering to the advice of the banks in that they are carrying on the farm program of diversification."

STANTON GRANDCHILD Loses Favorite Pet

If Frank L. Stanton were still alive, or if his gifts for writing poetry had been passed to one of his colleagues at his death, Mr. Stanton's little granddaughter, little Marcelle Stanton Megabee, probably wouldn't be long without the dog she lost Monday. For Mr. Stanton would have written a poem about the loss, so strong in its appeal that by tonight Marcelle would have had a look at all of the stray dogs in Atlanta.

The dog, Miss Lee, a six-month-old puppy, walked away from the Megabee car as it was parked at Highland avenue and North avenue.

Marcelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Megabee, 1421 Fairview road.

Jailed Ex-Detective Still Good as Sleuth

For the third time in the last few weeks, E. C. Stegall, former head of the vice squad of the Atlanta detective bureau, who is now a prisoner in the DeKalb county chain gang, has captured an escaped convict for DeKalb authorities.

Stegall, who was sentenced to serve 15 to 16 years for the slaying of W. H. Hames eight years ago, captured Henry Williams, last of the escaped convicts, at Forsyth and Whitehall streets Monday morning and escorted him to police station. He was put on the trail of the three negroes by Warden Slate, of the DeKalb county camp, who made him a trusty for the purpose.

DRIVE'S PROGRESS PLEASES DIRECTOR

Plans for a city-wide drive to put over in quick fashion the $50,000 expansion program for the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau are rapidly rounding into shape, Lionel Keene, general chairman, announced Monday following a meeting of the committee of 40 which is directing the campaign.

A happy response is being received from leading businessmen, Mr. Keene said, showing that the enthusiasm which has marked Atlanta effort heretofore is rising with renewed vigor.

MRS. KEMP'S BODY, LOST AT SEA, FOUND

The body of Mrs. Lillian Kemp, New York actress and wife of A. E. Kemp, 240 Ponce de Leon avenue, was found on the shore of the Atlantic near Rye, N. Y., Monday. She was one of those lost in the wreck of the Sea Fox, pleasure yacht.

Mr. Kemp, a theatrical man, had just moved to Atlanta and his wife, formerly a star in "Vanities" and more recently a dancing academy instructor, was to follow him here. A delayed letter informed him that she had gone for a short cruise on the Sea Fox. It was received approximately a week after the yacht was sunk in Long Island sound.

Mr. Kemp went immediately to New York to search for her, and Monday her body was washed ashore with that of Robert Johnson Jr., a dancer. For other bodies have been recovered, two are still missing.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What is the effect of irritation upon the throat? Here are the exact words of a noted authority retained by us to study this question. He writes:

"First, the vocal chords, on account of their delicacy of structure, would be the first tissues to give indication of irritation, evidenced by the huskiness of the smoker's voice, the result of relaxed tension and slower vibration of the vocal chords. The next site of irritation would be the tissues adjacent to the vocal chords comprising the larynx, therefore the general focal point of the irritation would be in the voice box represented externally by the Adam's Apple."

So—Consider your Adam's Apple. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Looking At Life

Even If Your Income Goes On

When you are hurt, even if your income continues, you stand to lose a considerable sum of money.

Hospital rates range from $5 to $20 per day. Special nurses receive $5 to $10 per day apiece. The nurses' board is extra. Surgeons' fees in an operative case may run from $100 to $300. There are charges for X-rays, operating room, laboratory, and other hospital and medical care.

Even if one is fortunate enough to have his income continue during the several weeks he is laid up, it takes a pretty husky income to meet all these extra expenses in addition to the normal ones, which go on just the same.

The better way and the modern way is to carry accident protection which covers everything . . . all hospital, medical, surgical and nursing expense, and income in addition.

The new Pacific Leader Accident Policy, issued by the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, does cover these extra expenses, completely, and liberally, yet at a very moderate cost. There is no waiting under this policy . . . it steps in immediately and begins taking the financial burden of an accident off your shoulders.

It is the complete coverage that every modern man should have, and any man between 18 and 64 years old is eligible to apply, without medical examination. However complete your present insurance program is, you will be more comfortable and feel safer with this policy in your strong-box.

I'd like to send you a folder giving the details. May I?

Joint Police, Fire Station On Auditorium Site Urged

Will L. Hancock Suggests New Armory Be Erected Out of Heavy Traffic District.

Suggestion for a plan for a new police station and fire headquarters as well as a new auditorium armory for the borough of Atlanta was made Monday by Will L. Hancock, chairman of the school committee of the Atlanta bond commission.

Mr. Hancock also stated that the school department never would keep within its appropriations until a smaller board of education was in harness and elected without regard to ward lines.

In commenting on two recent editorials in The Constitution, the bond commission member stated that in his belief it would be much better to plan on a new fire and police headquarters where the present auditorium is rather than spend a half a million dollars re-erecting the present Decatur street police station.

"I want to express my appreciation and approval of your two recent editorials, one on the school system and the other on the auditorium armory situation," Mr. Hancock said. "It is good we have a paper in our midst that can fearlessly express itself as you did in the 'Cut Bait' or 'Quit' editorial.

"The school department never will live within its appropriation until ward lines are eliminated in the board of education and its members work for the good of the city at large instead of their particular wards. After being in close touch with the board of education during the last four trying years, I am convinced that the board is topheavy and should be reduced without regard to ward lines to five members—four from each quarter of the city and one from the city at large.

Your editorial on the needs of an auditorium armory is, to say the least, opportune in as much as the G. Lloyd Preacher company is now making some sort of a proposition toward re-erecting the old police station on its present site.

"I think it would be indeed unfortunate to spend $500,000 on the re-building of this present building on its present site.

"The present auditorium armory is inadequate for the needs of the national guard as well as entirely too small for a convention of any size. Then again it is a fire hazard, to say the least, when we often have several thousand persons in the building.

"I have suggested before that the city disperse with the present locations of both the central fire station on Alabama street and the present police station on Decatur street and use the present auditorium armory to house both of these departments. I think it would be far wiser to have the Preacher company work along this line and make some suggestion as to its feasibility than to attempt to remodel the old police station. The Alabama street fire headquarters is bottled up with only one avenue of egress, and the proposed location would solve this problem.

"The present auditorium armory should be large enough to house both departments and also permit room for recreation and drill grounds in the rear of each department.

"My suggestion would be to dispose of these two properties and float a small bond issue to take care of building a suitable auditorium armory away from the center of congested traffic."

THEATER DELEGATES HAVE ANNUAL BANQUET

Social Affairs Climaxes First Day of Annual Convention Here.

Theater owners of the southeast, here for their annual convention, reached the climax of their program on Monday night when the annual banquet was held on the roof garden of the Ansley hotel. The affair, which was purely social in character, was presided over by Alpha Fowler, Georgia senator-elect from the thirty-ninth district and owner of theaters in Douglasville and Atlanta.

The convention opened formally on Monday morning at 9 o'clock, though nearly all the 250 delegates spent Sunday here attending screenings of forthcoming feature attractions which were shown on Sunday at the Capitol and Fox theaters. A buffet supper was served at the Capitol on Sunday night, with the Universal Picture Corporation as hosts.

Speakers at the business sessions Monday included many prominent theater owners from various parts of the southeast. Nat M. Williams, of Thomasville, president of the association, presided, and Congressman Robert W. Hamspeck, of the fifth Georgia district, delivered the address of welcome. Thomas E. Orr, of Albertville, Ala., responded.

M. D. Gleason, Atlanta world's fair commissioner, spoke on the proposed centennial fair for 1937.

Carter Barron, manager of the Fox theater, addressed the theater owners on "Good Will in Theater Operation," while Joseph L. Stein, of New York, spoke on "The Copyright Protective Bureau."

"The Small Theater" was the subject of an address by Ed Kuykendall, of Columbus, Miss., while M. A.

Bust of Washington To Be on New Quarter

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—George Washington's portrait will be the emblem of liberty on the new quarter dollar, supplanting the familiar goddess of liberty.

Sculptors have been so notified by Director Grant, of the mint, in opening the design competition for the 25 cent piece authorized by congress to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the first president's birth.

On the face of the coin, with Washington's portrait, the word "Liberty" and the year of coinage are to appear. The reverse side will have the traditional eagle and inscriptions, "United States of America" and "E Pluribus Unum." The motto, "In God We Trust," may go on either side.

The winning designer will receive $1,500.

Lightman, president of the M. P. T. C. A. discussed "Theater Organization."

The feature of the morning session was a discussion of the type of screen entertainment most popular with the theater goers.

$35,000 FUND RAISED TO FIGHT COAL STRIKE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, June 15.—(AP)—The Belmont county board of commissioners today informed Sheriff Howard Duff they would place the entire resources of the county at his disposal if necessary to maintain order in the coal strike led by the National Miners Union. At the same time, the board borrowed and appropriated an additional $10,000 to finance the employment of special deputies by Duff. This brought to $35,000 the total amount appropriated since last week's disorders in the strike area.

While several operators either opened their mines or announced their intention to do so, the strike was spread to the Big Five mine, where 160 men walked out when pickets congregated at the properties.

Officials of several companies said they were hiring new men to replace strikers and declared eviction suits would face miners who fail to return to work. Monroe Mechling, superintendent of the Provident mine, said he would operate the pits as long as his men wanted to work, and announced 200 of the 300 now on strike would return tomorrow.

Deputy sheriffs today investigated a fire at the Big Run mine of the Rail & River Coal Company at Bellairs, which destroyed the wash house and threw 550 men temporarily out of employment.

Andy Gump Creator Victim of Bandits On Chicago Street

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—Two tuxedo-clad bandits were sought today in the search for the $50,000 worth of jewelry stolen from Sidney Smith, noted cartoonist, and his wife. Homeward bound from a South Side country club hall early yesterday, the Smiths' sedan was boarded by the bandits as it stopped for a Michigan boulevard traffic signal.

One bandit guarded the chauffeur with his pistol. The other jumped into the tonneau and forced the creator of "Andy Gump" and his wife to surrender all their jewelry, save only Mrs. Smith's wedding ring.

After turning off the ignition of the Smith car and tossing the key on a near-by lawn, the bandits jumped into a trailing automobile and disappeared in traffic.

The Smith chauffeur, Charles Cannon, scanned detective bureau photographs for several hours yesterday and Chief of Detectives John Norton said an arrest was imminent.

NAVY SEEKS TUG FOR WILKINS SUB

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—With the polar submarine Nautilus in tow, the battleship Wyoming made slow way toward Queenstown, Ireland, tonight while navy department officials sought to have a tug sent out to relieve her.

Rear Admiral Claude C. Bloch radioed the chief of naval operations here that in his opinion the Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert Wilkins plans an under-sea dash to the north pole, would have to be towed all the way. On Bloch's recommendation, Admiral William V. Pratt wired W. Herbert Adams, New York manager of the Wilkins expedition, strongly urging him to have a tug sent from Queens-town immediately.

Meanwhile the battleship Arkansas left the Wyoming and Nautilus behind and steamed on for Copenhagen. The battleships, bound for Europe with 975 midshipmen on their summer cruise, had been delayed nearly two days in going to the assistance of the submarine.

Heavy seas made it impossible to get a line to the Nautilus until early this morning after the battleships had stood by all night and most of yesterday.

CHINA NATIONALS RE-ELECT CHIANG

NANKING, China, June 15.—(AP)—The nationalist government today re-elected Chiang Kai-shek its president in defiance of the demand of Canton insurgents that he resign or fight the secessionist government of Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces.

Chiang, generalissimo, who led Cantonese armies northward in 1925 and 1927 to form the nationalist government at Nanking, was reappointed by the central executive committee of the Kuomintang, the political party controlling the government. T. Y. Soong, his brother-in-law, was installed as vice president.

Re-election of Chiang was in repudiation of the challenge of the Canton rebels, who had accused him of being a dictator desirous of establishing a new dynasty.

Coincident, the government hurried additional troops into Kiangsi and Hunan provinces, ostensibly to reinforce armies fighting large bodies of roving bandits and reds.

WASHINGTON POST SALE IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—A petition for the sale of the Washington Post to David Lawrence for $3,000,000 was agreed to today by the owners and was immediately submitted to the District of Columbia supreme court.

Attorneys for Edward B. McLean, publisher, and the American Security & Trust Company, trustees, said after the private conference the Lawrence offer was acceptable to the trustees. The way was left open, however, for further offers.

Charles A. Douglas, Washington attorney representing William Randolph Hearst, and another representative of this publisher, asked time to present an offer.

RATE PEACE SOUGHT BY COASTAL SHIPPERS

Committee Named To Work Out Schedule Acceptable to All.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—Deliberations of intercoastal shipping operators on ways of ending the rate war failed to produce any definite result today, and were adjourned until Wednesday, when a committee of five will convene in New York to attempt to draft a rate conference agreement.

Members of the committee representing all phases of the cargo and passenger water-borne traffic between the Pacific and the Atlantic and Gulf coasts were hopeful that they might work out an agreement to which all the carriers would subscribe.

Strong pleas for government regulation of rates were made in the general conference session attended by about 60 shipping men and by two of the leading owners, P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine, and Edgar P. Luckenbach, president of the Luckenbach line.

As this would require congressional action and could not be achieved for several months, immediate efforts were launched by Luckenbach and others to form a rate conference to replace that which broke up last February.

NEW ORLEANS STRIKE ENDED BY WORKMEN

NEW ORLEANS, June 15.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that three locals of the International Longshoremen's Association, whose members went on strike on the river front here February 23, had voted to return to work.

T. J. Darcy, chairman of the workmen's strike committee, said the vote followed assurance given by the steamship companies to A. E. Donnegan, special representative of the secretary by the workers when they went out of labor, that practices complained of strike would be discontinued.

Liquidity and Loans

THE factor you seek, first of all, in your bank, is safety. This, obviously, calls for a high degree of liquidity on the part of the bank—the maintenance of a position whereby each depositor can get his money any time he wants it.

To maintain this position, a bank's loans must also be safe—there must exist in the borrower not only a willingness to repay when due, but also the ability.

Banks are not unreasonable where loans are concerned. They are simply endeavoring to keep trust with their depositors. . . . A frank chat with one of our officers will give you a better conception of how this bank can—and does—serve Atlanta business.

SAVANNAH LINE
THE ROUTE DE LUXE TO NEW YORK - BOSTON AND THE NORTH

Walk up the gang plank at Savannah and let a waiting steward find your stateroom for you. See your luggage disposed, approve your deck chair—and you're all set for New York—or Boston.

Sunshine, fresh sea breezes, deliciously tempting menus, berths with the soft comfort of your bed at home. Shuffleboard and golf, bridge, lounging in your deck chair. Dancing to the gay strains of a college orchestra composed of the fastest syncopators of old Dixie. THAT'S travel.

Contrasted to the dusty, overland route, the Savannah Line is indeed the cool, green road to the North. But—and this is good news—it is also the economical way, actually costing less than travel by land. There is space for your car, too, and the rates are especially low when accompanied by passenger.

Sailings from Savannah every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Three days to New York. Four days to Boston, including a day's stop-over in New York each way with the ship as your hotel. And don't forget that any railroad agent can supply you with information or reservations, or write OCEAN STEAMSHIP COMPANY OF SAVANNAH, 37 Bull Street, Savannah, Ga.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE EXTENDS CONDOLENCES
PARIS, June 15.—(AP)—One of President Doumer's first official acts as chief executive of the republic was to express his condolences today to the families of those lost in the St. Philibert disaster.

He and Premier Laval telegraphed their sympathy through the mayor of Nantes.

FREAK WEATHER FELT BY PARIS DURING STORM

PARIS, June 15.—(AP)—A cyclonic storm in which the excursion boat St. Philibert was lost swept the western coast of France yesterday and produced strange atmospheric disturbances in the interior.

In Paris and suburbs the populace experienced one of the most sultry, depressing days in years. Late in the afternoon squalls changed the torrid heat to cold and sent spirals of wind across the city.

The blast hit channel resorts as well as the Brittany coast. Many Americans in such places as Paris-Plage and Trouville were caught in sandstorms which filled eyes with sand and caused great discomfort. At Granville, Normandy, the sky was overcast by a black pall and thunderstorms occurred, accompanied by hailstones nearly as large as hen's eggs. The lower quarters were inundated and the streets became torrents of water.

wealthy man made a large cash settlement with the Faithfull family five years ago. The informant was described as Charles F. Rowley, an attorney who, the newspaper said, declared the girl's steplather, Stanley E. Faithfull, called on him the day before Starr vanished.

Rowley declined to discuss the amount of the supposed settlement or name the man. He would not say he was a Bostonian. The paper quoted him: "If Faithfull said it was $20,000 or any other sum, I'll leave it at that. I'd rather the girl's family told the amount."

COURT TO HEAR SLAYER'S APPEAL

have reversed the judgment refusing a new trial except for the technical reason that the bill of exceptions was not filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the time required by law and, as a result, the supreme court was without jurisdiction to dismiss the bill of exceptions. If a new trial could have been ordered, there might be a different result in the trial court."

"Typical Case for Clemency." Justice James K. Hines wrote the commission:

"From facts appearing in the record of the conviction of Tom King, and from other facts de hors the record, there is sufficient doubt and ground—in my opinion—for commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment. It seems to be a typical case for clemency."

Justices H. Warner Hill and S. Price Gilbert said to the commission in a letter:

"Based upon the peculiar and unusual situation, we recommend a reduction of the sentence to life imprisonment."

Attorneys for the prisoner, at the hearing before the commission, said that Chief Justice Russell would join his four colleagues in recommending clemency and it is understood he did so, orally, subsequent to the formal hearing.

King was convicted on a chain of circumstantial evidence after McNair had been shot at a still in Butts county, and sentenced to death. He appealed and was granted a new trial because of an error in the charge of the trial judge.

Extraordinary Motion Lost. After his second conviction and death sentence he appealed and was granted a new trial because the solicitor-general had impeached one of his own witnesses. He was tried a third time and the conviction upheld by a divided court, 3-2.

King's lawyers lodged a motion for a rehearing of their appeal and this was denied because of jurisdictional reasons. The prison commission declined to intervene. King then sought a new trial through an extraordinary motion which was declined by Judge G. Ogden Persons.

The supreme court then issued a mandamus nisi, requiring Judge Persons to show cause why he should not certify to a bill of exceptions as requested in the extraordinary motion. Judge Persons answered the writ and the court made the mandamus nisi absolute and ordered Judge Persons to sign the bill of exceptions. The hearing this morning, then, is on the extraordinary motion based on newly discovered evidence.

Frank R. Williamson, of Forsyth, solicitor-general, and C. L. Robinson, of Jackson, the latter assisting the prosecutor, will argue the case for the state and W. E. Watkins, Joel B. Mallett and H. M. Fletcher, all of Jackson, will argue the case for the defendant.

underground water will keep the river level up for a long period without rainfall.

The pope's order to the bishops was issued on the same day that the clubs closed, but before the dissolution order became known July 1. It threw the church's cloak around these institutions with a half a million members and the bishops' responsibility thereby became a guarantee of the religious character of the club.

The government insisted that the clubs would remain closed, but the Catholic members have been reorganized into confraternities, congregations and oratories.

The pope's note, although it was technically received by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi today, actually arrived yesterday or late Saturday. It was among the mass of diplomatic documents placed on the minister's desk, but his office staff did not recall exactly when it arrived.

ATLANTA PLANS WELCOME FOR KEY

with citizens will dominate the scene. Prospects of a group of close friends meeting the mayor at the dock in New York and accompanying him home were suggested Monday, in the discussion led by George W. Hanson, J. P. Wonnack, Dr. Frank Eskridge and Dr. Joseph H. Hines. A colorful feature of the historic welcome will be the assembly of the members of the James L. Key Bible Class at the train in New York to welcome their teacher. They are expected to occupy a principal position in the welcoming parade.

It is probable that the mayor and his daughter, Ruth Key, will leave the train at Peachtree station and that the welcome procession will move from there down Peachtree street to Five Points and then to the city hall.

It is felt that the elaborate welcome will serve as an appropriate recognition of the honor paid Atlanta by France in selecting its executive for the Paris trip.

Announcement of those constituting the citizens' welcoming committee is expected to be made as soon as the committee can be organized with representation from the various civic and fraternal groups.

U. S. MAYORS LEAVE FRENCH SOIL TODAY

PARIS, June 15.—(AP)—America's touring mayors start home tomorrow gratified by the conviction that their visit to France has been fruitful in promoting better Franco-American relations.

They are deeply grateful that they have been able to see far more of French life, notably in the provinces, than the usual American visitor. They are delighted at finding the viewpoint of the French generally not far from their own on current problems, and they marvel at many things, particularly the restoration of the war-torn sections of northern France.

They are pleased, too, by their introduction to French cuisine at a series of banquets prepared by the nation's most eminent chefs.

Although there have been eruptions of tried nerves during the tour, and an occasional "incident" here and there, the mayors are starting home satisfied that they have furthered amity between France and the United States.

The trip accomplished a great deal of good, said Judge Frank N. Paden, representing the mayor of Chicago. He admired French industriousness and, above all, the determination of the people to obtain health-giving pleasure in their spare time. Two Parisian newspapers today were among the mayors' hosts—Le Matin and L'Intransigent.

Little time for packing was left free for the mayors, as Harry Piler staged a farewell supper for them at which most of the Paris theater stars appeared in their own specialty acts.

Wheat and other crops have suffered heavy losses during May and June, the important month in the spring wheat belt. The prospects for immediate relief were said to be slight. Rain must come soon to save the situation.

The south, too, J. B. Kincher, weather bureau meteorologist, said, is "getting pretty dry," but emphasized that present indications do not point to a widespread drought paralleling the 1930 disaster, which was echoed in congress with appeals for financial aid.

While the Atlantic seaboard has had an abundance of moisture, the Ohio and central Mississippi valleys, hardest hit last year, received slightly below normal rainfall this spring.

Spring and winter wheat in the northwest, the important spring wheat section of the country, has been seriously damaged. The spring wheat condition on June 1 was reported the poorest on record. The dryness has extended into the wheat belt of Canada, also, where heavy losses are feared. Recent rains, however, have brought some relief to a limited area.

SPANISH GOVERNMENT EXPELS CARDINAL

MADRID, June 15.—(AP)—Cardinal Pedro Segura y Saenz, primate of Spain, was believed to be en route to France tonight after being expelled from the country by the government. Meanwhile, anti-church demonstrations took place in the Guadalupe, where manifestants demanded the resignation of Miguel Maura, minister of the interior, charging he had been too lenient in dealing with the cardinal.

About 300 automobile factory workers paraded the streets in one instance, carrying banners which read "Down With the Clergy. Live Long the Republic," and "Stern Justice Against Segura." The party visited the governor's office and demanded Maura's resignation.

Meanwhile, observers believe that the situation between Vatican City and the Madrid authorities had become more tense as the result of the expulsion of the church leader. Government's action might lead to a breach in Vatican City-Spanish relations.

The cardinal was detained last night and left Guadalupe with guards today, apparently for the French border.

Segura recently returned from Vatican City, where he had reported to the authorities on the burning of church property by mobs in Spain.

in the Red river valley of North and South Dakota. Senators Walsh, of Montana, and Caraway, of Arkansas, both democrats, today said a special session of congress was necessary to deal with the situation.

The Arkansas advocated making a revolving fund of the $65,000,000 appropriated last year for drought loans, to be available in similar emergencies through the next five years.

The agriculture department said there was no authority for extending further loans from the $65,000,000 fund.

For all the states rainfall was a third of normal in January this year; half in February; slightly above normal in March; a third of normal in April and a little over half in May.

Storms in State Injure Two; Crops, Property Damaged

Church Building Near Waycross and Huge Fertilizer Plant in Albany Are Destroyed.

WAYCROSS, Ga., June 15.—(P)—The summer storm which broke over the Waycross section late Sunday, bringing relief from a month's drought that was threatening the destruction of crops throughout this territory, took a heavy toll in property damage, according to reports assembled here today.

The Methodist church at Deenwood, adjoining the city limits northwest of Waycross, was totally demolished by the high winds, the frame structure being leveled. Two men, who had taken refuge in the building to escape the heavy downpour, were injured, one seriously.

Len Clements was pinned beneath the debris, the services of six men being required to free him from the wrecked timbers. He was badly cut and bruised and suffered a heavy loss of blood. It is believed he also suffered internal injuries. His companion, H. W. Casey, of Atlanta, was slightly injured by flying wood.

Casey realized the building was collapsing and made an effort to jump out of the door, but was caught by several pieces of timber.

Two blocks away lightning struck a frame house and two women, Mrs. A. C. Colley, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucille Colley, were shocked and burned.

The younger Mrs. Colley was standing on the front porch with a child in her arms and was knocked off the porch into the yard, the child falling on the porch unharmed.

The roof of a garage on Carswell avenue at the home of P. G. Winn was twisted off by the heavy wind and the smokestack of the Hiers planing mill was blown down.

Communication lines are being repaired today, many poles having been blown down.

PEACH TREES DAMAGED
IN MONTEZUMA SECTION
MONTEZUMA, Ga., June 15.—(P)—A wind, rain and hail storm in this section Monday afternoon damaged peach trees and caused considerable damage to property.

The hailstones were small and while some peaches were knocked and blown off trees, the loss was not reported to be considerable. Other crops were not hurt, so far as is known here. The storm lasted about 30 minutes.

Two barns and a tenant house on the property of Jule Felton, five miles north of Montezuma, were blown down and although the house was occupied no one was injured. Several houses near Plains were damaged, it was reported here. A negro church in that vicinity was blown down.

PLANT IN ALBANY BURNS
DURING ELECTRICAL STORM
ALBANY, Ga., June 15.—(P)—Fire believed to have been caused by a stroke of lightning Monday afternoon destroyed the plant of the D. Brown Guano Company, with damage estimated at $500,000.

The building was ignited during a fierce electrical and windstorm. The Albany fire department was unable to give much assistance in fighting the flames, on account of the lack of water connections.

The building was the property of J. H. Carpenter, of New York. The fertilizer season has closed, and the plant was not in operation.

HAIL IN HANCOCK COUNTY HITS CORN, COTTON CROPS
SPARTA, Ga., June 15.—(P)—Hailstorms in this section Sunday afternoon played havoc with crops in the vicinity of Linton and Archerton. In this county, and in Wortham, Washington county, it was reported here Monday.

Damage to the corn crop was said to have been serious that replanting will be necessary in some places. Cotton also suffered. At the office of S. D. Truitt, county farm agent, it was stated Monday the damage was of serious consequences.

SUSPECT ARRESTED IN GEORGIA ROBBERY
TAMPA, Fla., June 15.—(P)—S. R. Franchin, of Flomston, Ala., was under arrest here Monday charged by sheriff's deputies with being an accomplice of J. P. Schuler, Bristol, Fla., in the robbery of John Collier, 45, of Odum, Ga., near Winsumma, Fla., Saturday night.

NEGROES ARE URGED TO STAY ON FARMS

WARRENTON, Ga., June 15.—Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes Institute, Atlanta, speaking in the First African Methodist Episcopal and Trinity C. M. E. churches Sunday, urged the negro people to stay on the farms and not crowd the large cities where their opportunities are limited and can not reach their highest development. "All work is honorable," declared Rev. Holmes, "if you prepare yourself to master whatever your vocation in life may be."

The majority of the colored people in the eastern and northern cities who are suffering on account of the depression came from the farms, and in many cases owned their farms and homes," continued the speaker. "The trouble with the country today is that we have more consumers than producers. It is the duty of the citizens to have better schools and protection for the people who live in the rural districts will be one of the best ways to increase and induce people to return to the farms and remain there."

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR MRS. L. K. ROGERS
TENNILLE, Ga., June 15.—(P)—Services for Mrs. Loula Kendall Rogers, who died here Sunday after a brief illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Franklin, were held at the Methodist church at 5 o'clock this afternoon, conducted by Rev. Thomas R. Kendall, of Cedar-town, a nephew of the deceased, assisted by the Methodist pastor, Rev. M. W. Carmichael, and Rev. R. D. Hodges, pastor of the Baptist church.

A short service will be held in Barnesville and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery there at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Rogers was a sister of the Rev. T. R. Kendall, of Atlanta, well-known retired Methodist minister and chaplain at Grady hospital. She was the author of several books of verse and was a widely known religious worker. The death of a son, Thomas Rogers, who was buried here a week ago was said to have hastened her own death. Mr. Rogers was en route to see his mother, after an absence of 15 years when he fell ill and died at San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Rogers never recovered from the shock.

YOUTH ORDERED HELD IN ROME MAN'S DEATH
ROME, Ga., June 15.—(P)—Jeff D. Couey, 25, Monday was ordered held at a coroner's jury investigating the death Sunday of Carl Blankenship, following an alleged drinking party.

The jury released Raymond Juhlman, 24, the third man officers said was in the party. An autopsy showed Blankenship's death resulted from cerebral hemorrhages caused by a blow on the head. It was charged Couey struck Blankenship during a fight.

Funeral services were held Monday for Blankenship, with interment in Plainville cemetery. He is survived by his wife and four children.

Dr. Henderson Speaks.
"Education in our democracy today is spelling, and consistently spelling, failure," Dr. Archibald Henderson, of the University of North Carolina and eminent author, asserted in the annual Phi Beta Kappa address tonight.

"Publicists and educators so utterly unlike in temper and disposition as the iconoclasts, Bernard Shaw and E. J. Mencken on the one hand, and Presidents Lowell, of Harvard, and Butler, of Columbia, on the other, recently have voiced the lost of the former in democracy as it functions in America today, the latter in the prevailing systems of education which are filleting the young in the name of scholarship."

"Today we live in the midst of a great awakening—that 'awakening from dogmatic slumber' of which Immanuel Kant so pungently spoke," Dr. Henderson stated. "We are living in the era of the great change. Within little more than a decade the world has undergone a perturbing transformation which, as yet, we have scarcely begun to assess."

Change Due to Science.
This change, according to the speaker, has taken place largely because of science, which "has come to occupy the predominant and pervasive role in the great cosmic drama of civilization." Science has not dreamed of before; it has even built a new age that is as spiritual, according to General Squire, and artistic in its own way as the design of St. Peter's, of the composition of a Beethoven sonata, he declared.

"Yet what," Dr. Henderson asks, "is the immediate effect upon the mind and the heart of mankind? Can science transform, improve and uplift the human soul? Shall the golden age be ushered in by the microphone? He answered in the words of the late Dr. Faunce: 'Alas, no mechanism can usher in any millennium, and no material device can establish the Kingdom of God. The broadest and the best will send out our message of brotherhood, or hiss out our hatred with equal efficiency. The Greeks had none of our devices, but they built the Parthenon and carved the Hermes—things utterly beyond us now.'"

Science itself, Dr. Henderson believes, is becoming alarmed at the magnitude and rapidity of its discoveries. He described a drama he had seen in New York city, "Wings Over Europe," in which the discoverer of a method to release the energy locked up in the atom was killed and the formula destroyed by the cabinet of the country to whom he tried to sell it. Science of the future, he said, which would be released on the world.

Effect of Standardization.
"The civilization which rests upon scientific discovery is rapidly becoming toxic, which minister to its own destruction. The greatest curse of this machine age, in my opinion, is the tendency to the standardization of human material. Our educational institutions are becoming technical plants for turning out human products according to a given pattern and prescribed design." The North Carolina professor pointed out "Is it any wonder then that foreign observers like John D. Rockefeller and Karel Capek note that some 110,000,000 Americans are 'drifting by some uneasy telegraphic process into a fatal standardization of mental habit? In education, the three R's, says Capek, have given place to the three S's: speed, success and size. If we still retain the three R's, our college they have now been relieved as rah! rah! rah!"

The question humanity should ask itself is whether it is science that has shot ahead or everything else that has lagged behind. The progress of science cannot be stopped, and the dilemma of our civilization is that the social sciences generally have not kept pace with "the seven league strides of science." Culture and scholarship are taking on new and enlarged meaning, and are thereby being urged of "much meaningless alloy and dross."

SOULS COMMENDED BY GEORGIA TRUSTEES

MAON, Ga., June 15.—(P)—John Downer, negro, sentenced to die in the electric chair for an alleged assault on a white woman, told reporters today he was very thankful for efforts of attorneys in having his electrocution postponed.

A stay of sentence, which was to have been carried out today, was caused when Judge Bascom S. Deaver Saturday denied a habeas corpus petition, but granted an appeal to the circuit court in New Orleans.

In their petition, lawyers pleading for the negro, said Downer was convicted "without due process of law," and his trial was "a mere sham and pretense."

When Downer was arrested, a mob stormed the jail at Elberton, Ga., in an effort to seize him, but tear gas, and a round of firing by national guardsmen held the crowd from the prisoner. His trial was held at Elberton while guardsmen protected the defendant with machine guns.

Constitution Lauded.
A recent opinion of the United States supreme court, upholding the freedom of the press, was the basis of an address at University Day exercises here today by Fred B. Davis, Macon. Davis represented the Lumpkin Law School in the exercises.

The Atlanta Constitution's fight on municipal graft was cited as an instance of the necessity of the freedom of the press. "The fact that wholesale graft and corruption was brought to light and punished is attributable primarily to the efforts of The Atlanta Constitution, which fearlessly exposed the dishonest practices of prominent citizens," Davis said.

"It must be remembered that this newspaper, at the start of the probe, was charged with the crime of libel by a part of men who enjoyed public respect and confidence. The fact that their position and power did not make them immune to the light of a public investigation was the one thing that exposed and punished their corrupt practices."

Davis appealed for encouragement of a "free and unrestricted press and speech in order that we may all think more intelligently on national problems."

STYLES BY ANNETTE

SPOTS THAT ADD MODISH

Spots! Spots! And more spots are sponsored by Paris for summer wear. A deep circular cape set on to the bodice to form a yoke above extends into flared sleeves at the front. The curved outline at the front tends to lighten its line by detracting from breadth.

It's unbelievably attractive in flat crepe silk in new leaf-bud green, a yellowish green, with spots in deeper shade. The plain crepe bows match the spots.

Style No. 742 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 30-inch material with 3-8 yard of 30-inch contrasting.

Delightfully dainty, too, is dusty pink flat washable crepe silk. And then again, by way of contrast, it's perfectly stunning in white shantung with the cape and bows in emerald green shade.

Linen, chiffon prints and eyelet dainties are very chic.

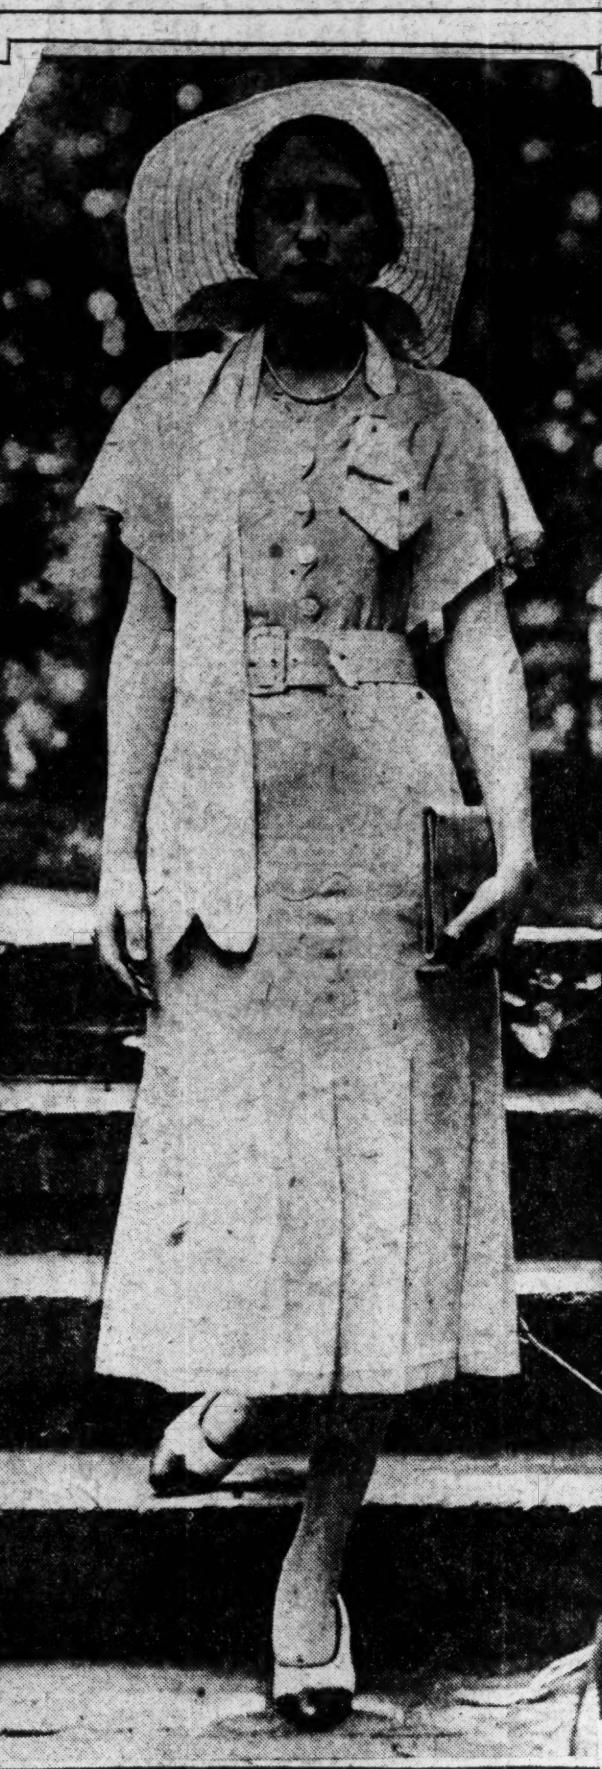

Our large Fashion Magazine shows the latest Paris styles for adults and children. Also modern embroidery and instructive lessons in sewing.

Price of book 10 cents.

Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin. Write pattern carefully.

MANY WOMEN Have Been Helped Like This

"About four years ago, I suffered a great deal with pains in my back and side," writes Mrs. D. A. Bush, of Roston, Texas. "I did not feel like doing my housework, or anything else. I would get nervous, and my back would hurt worse. One of my neighbors asked me what I was doing for myself. I told her most everything. Then she asked me if I had ever taken Cardui. I told her 'no' but I would try it. Before I had finished, the bottle I could tell the difference in my feelings, but I kept on taking Cardui until I felt strong and well again."

A SUICIDAL DOUBLE.

The sweet-tasting word "d-double" turns into bitter acid when the doubler discovers that the only way opponents made their doubled contract was through some vital information obligingly revealed through the doubler.

Theodore Lightner, one of the five or six greatest players in the world, passed a sleepless night after the world's champion player pointed out to him that had he abstained from doubling their grand slam in hearts they never could have made it by defying mathematics in the face of inferences. His avid double helped the opponents to place a key card in his hand so they broke the rule and incidentally Teddy also.

NEW PLANE ROUTE FORMALLY OPENS

Two new links in the transcontinental American Airways chain, giving Atlanta direct air connections with New Orleans, Memphis, Nashville, Louisville and Cincinnati, were forged Monday with the formal opening of routes from New Orleans to Memphis and from Fort Worth to Cincinnati.

Under the new arrangement passengers from Atlanta may make connections at Jackson, Miss., for New Orleans or Memphis, while passengers from New Orleans may connect at Jackson, Miss., for New Orleans or Memphis, while passengers from New Orleans may connect at Jackson for Birmingham and Atlanta. Many notables participated in the opening of the new routes.

WOMAN DIES DESPITE 6 BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS

Despite the fact that physicians put up a stubborn fight for her life and resorted to six blood transfusions since her entry to Piedmont hospital on June 7, Mrs. Derman Ray, 24, of Cartersville, died there Monday. She was suffering from an illness that caused her to grow steadily weaker despite the transfusions, it was stated. The body was taken to Cartersville for funeral arrangements.

Revival To Continue. Rev. C. E. Greene, pastor of the Amanda Flipper Memorial A. M. E. church, will continue revival services through this week, it was announced Monday. Rev. G. W. T. Thornton, of Kingston, is conducting the services.

A man married to such a woman has one hope: It is the reading of the riot act. He may tell her that she shall not enjoy the comfort and protection of a home which she neglects, nor shall she enjoy the protection of a husband whom she abuses. A threat will sometimes bring such a one to terms. Animals can be controlled by fear. Even so, the woman may sometimes be controlled in the same manner. The animal trainer manages to persuade the beast that he is not afraid of the success of his experiment depends largely on that factor. Any intimation that the trainer is fearful for his own safety is quickly communicated to the animal. He has no ability to reason about it but he has a sure instinct that informs him.

So you see, everybody cannot be an animal trainer and every husband must feel authoritative, he must exert his authority and he must not relax in his efforts.

YAP YAP HAS NEW NEIGHBORS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Gossip that's both bad and good. You'll find in every neighborhood. —Yap Yap the Prairie Dog.

It was a good hour after the passing of the airplane before any of the inhabitants of Prairie-dog Town entered out of their homes again. Then two or three of the most venturesome poked their heads out of their doorways, looked this way and that way, but mostly up in the sky, and seeing nothing of that strange and terrible bird that had given them such a fright, came wholly out and sat on their doorsteps. Then they began to call back and forth to each other. Hearing them, others came out, and pretty soon it seemed as if every one in town was out, running back and forth between houses and all talking excitedly.

Because he had been the first to see the strange bird and had given the alarm, Yap Yap found himself a person of some importance. He was supposed to have had a better look at it than anyone else and his nearest neighbors came over to hear all about it and ask what he thought of it. All agreed that it was the biggest, most awful bird ever heard of.

Yap Yap was a little late in getting up the next morning. When he poked his head out for a look around the town was already astir. Yap Yap came on his doorstep and sat up. Almost at once he discovered near at hand a small mound of freshly dug earth. "Hello!" he exclaimed. "What does this mean?"

"See here, who told you you could dig a home there?" demanded Yap Yap.

"No one. I believe this is free

TALKING IT OVER BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I have been married six years and, until my wife formed the habit of spending her time with younger women who are either unmarried or separated from their husbands, we were very happy. Now she is only interested in going to dances and other places of amusement with these young people. Our house is ill-kept. Sometimes I come home and find the beds unmade. It is not unusual for me to have to make up my bed before I get into bed. My mother-in-law lives near us and encourages her daughter in this frivolous life. My wife goes out and leaves our two children with her. I am in despair over our home. What can I do? T. L. J.

ANSWER:

Here is the problem of the shallow, pleasure-loving woman, married and assuming the responsibilities of wifehood and motherhood but lacking the moral fiber to stand the strain those responsibilities impose upon her. From the mother's attitude toward her delinquent daughter one may suppose she comes naturally by the lazy, shallow, and frivolous life. Someone has said that there is no better test of a person's character than the pleasures and amusements that person prefers and the methods employed to attain them. The light and frivolous are never sobered by the problems life offers. Trouble and responsibility fall off their shoulders as water falls off a duck's back.

A man married to such a woman has one hope: It is the reading of the riot act. He may tell her that she shall not enjoy the comfort and protection of a home which she neglects, nor shall she enjoy the protection of a husband whom she abuses. land," replied one of the two. Yap Yap wasn't sure which one. "We had to make a home somewhere, and the town seems to be growing in this direction, and so here we are. Excuse us now, please, for we have a great deal to do. You see, we only started digging this morning."

Before Yap Yap could think of a reply one had gone for a bit to eat and the other had disappeared in the hole and in a few minutes the earth began to come out of that hole once more. "Mrs. Yap Yap wanted more neighbors. Now that she has got them I hope she will be pleased," muttered Yap Yap and went below to tell her the news.

ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1931.

Dave Black Enters Battle for Southern Amateur Golf Crown; Andy Chambers Reports to Crackers on Eve of Chick Series

STATE TITLIST SEEKS CROWN IN DIXIE MEET

Dave Black Makes Late Entry; Joins Strong Local Squad.

Dave Black, Georgia amateur champion and Capital City Country Club star, will join the 30-odd Atlanta golfers this morning in the qualifying rounds in the southern amateur golf tournament to be played on the Chattanooga Country Club course.

Black and Fred Minnich, another Capital City star, left the city Monday afternoon for Chattanooga.

It is one of the largest fields of Atlanta golfers ever to enter the southern amateur on a foreign course and the most promising youngsters in this vicinity are out to return the title to Atlanta.

Other stars from Atlanta include Julius Hughes, Bobby Chambers, Vezey Rainwater Sr., Hugh Carter Jr. and Fred Tague from Druid Hills; Berrien Moore Jr., Charlie Yates Jr., Scott Hudson Jr., L. R. Hunter, Richard Hickey and C. E. Poppiatt, from East Lake; Dan Sage Jr., Johnnie Green, J. J. Jones Jr. and Muggsy Smith, from Ansley Park; Harold Hirsch Jr. and Elliott Hanes, from Inglewood; Travis Johnson, Tom Stewart and Bee Griffin, from Forrest Hills.

Emmett Spicer Gets 69 in Practice.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 15. (AP)—Emmett Spicer's 69 in practice today advised some 200 of the best golfers that he is on his game and ready to start play tomorrow in quest of his third southern golf championship over the golf and country club course here. He is the defending champion.

Spicer is paired with Polly Boyd, Chattanooga, in the 18-hole qualifying round, but he is playing only to give Boyd a partner as the Memphisian has decided to accept his right of entering Wednesday's selective round of match play without qualifying. Spicer, as defending champion, automatically will be ranked No. 1 in the championship flight.

Only 7 of the 32 in the championship chase last year are listed for the 1931 event, but many outstanding golfers are making their bids for the southern crown after several seasons' absence from the event. Tully Blair, Greensboro, runner-up last year, Fred Webb, Shelby, N. C., and Earl Stokes, Louisville, semi-finalists, and Carl Dunn, of Orlando, Fla., the medalist, are among those missing.

More than 150 golfers registered today for the 18-hole qualifying round tomorrow and many more were expected at starting time. Two score or more played on the course Friday but Spicer's 69, one under par for this fairly long course, was the day's best.

Spicer, who is from Memphis, played along with Polly Boyd, Chattanooga, who beat him to win the Tennessee state crown over the same course last summer. Spicer, the 1929 champion from Birmingham, and Darden Hampton, Chattanooga, another fine golfer, Perry held a 77, Hampton 76 and Boyd 74. Sam Kirkpatrick, Tony Scheffer, Nate Craig and Eugene Harris Jr., of Nashville; Files Crenshaw, of Montgomery, a former champion; Jack Tomer, of Florida; and other champions, George Bush, Jake and Pat Lebourgeois, Louis Lazar, Leroy Ward and Bob Munsted, of New Orleans; Judd Brunley, Knoxville; John Shaw, Lexington; Erwin Lawton, Charlotte; Maynard Ramon, Tampa, and Allen Smith, of Asheville.

Golf League Playoff Scheduled June 18

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 15.—George H. Fagle, president of the Georgia-Florida golf league, upon his return from Chicago today, announced that Valdosta and Thomasville will play off their tie for the league championship over the Radium Springs course at Albany June 18.

The teams received invitations from clubs in Atlanta, Quintana, Montgomery, but Albany was selected as the most logical site.

Those players who will represent Valdosta in the playoff include Jack Oliver, Maxwell Oliver, Billy Oliver, Johnny Oliver, George Converse and George Fagle.

Southern League Takes a Holiday

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 15. (AP)—Today was a baseball holiday in the Southern association. No games were scheduled. But they will be back at it again tomorrow with Memphis playing at Atlanta, Little Rock at Birmingham, All of the teams will get into action Wednesday.

August 26 is the only other day for all clubs decreed by the 1931 schedule.

Did you hear the boys in the locker room chattering about Bulletin 26 of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, subtitled "Current Developments in American College Sport?"

No? Neither did I. Bulletin 26 comes as a sort of supplement to Bulletin 23, issued two years ago, that said right out in black and white that colleges were hiring football players and commercializing the gridiron generally.

Bulletin 23 caused quite a commotion. The excitement lasted—Oh! nearly a week!—and most of the noise was occasioned by unripe raspberries pattering on the hats of the foundation committee.

Later when the wisecrackers had quieted down, certain coaches took up unwarranted, unfair and incorrect conclusions of the foundation and calmly exploded them with carefully prepared statistics and data.

The new Bulletin 26 reports "progress" in their attack on recruiting and subsidizing.

"The deflation of American football already begun through a decline in gate receipts" is one of the developments to which the bulletin points with pride. So it is the foundation, not the depression, that caused the deflation! In taking the blame the foundation has done a noble deed. We knew the depression could not have caused all the woes of the world.

Yet the foundation says that in spite of decreased football revenues, increase of facilities for physical education, intercollegiate athletics and intramural sport goes on apace.

Which would be very encouraging if everybody had not known it all along.

HOW TO DIET YOUR YOUNG CHAMPION.

Billy Wehle, old-time showman, who still takes his tent show out on the road every summer, dropped in to pass the time of day.

Billy says that he tramped with the Four Novelty Gramams, as the Stribling family vaudeville act was known 20 years ago, in the old "Isle of Roses Company."

The boys, W. L. and Herbert, were doing their boxing act then and Billy says the kids' main items of diet were breakfast food and beans.

This allegation has been forwarded to Ralph McGill, the only Atlanta correspondent who has been continuously with Stribling in his training camp, for verification before being offered to the fathers of promising boxers as a training menu.

Billy Wehle's tent show opens in Cartersville and begins a tour of Georgia towns this week. I'll hazard the guess that Pa would rather be out with that tent show than up yonder worrying over a championship fight, if things were not just exactly as they are.

WHEN CENTERFIELDERS COULD THROW.

B. J. Guinn, of Fairfax, Ala., writes of the old days when outfielders played close enough in to throw men out at bases:

Appropos of your recent remarks concerning the lamented passing of the old "dead" ball, with its attendant production of prodigious feats on the part of steel-armed outfielders, who revealed in cutting off runners at home plate and first base, recalls to the mind of this capricious old-timer, who believes that everything was better in the good old days, one of the most extraordinary plays ever witnessed.

It occurred in a game prior to the advent of the present "bullet" ball, between the West Point (Ga.) and Shawmut (Ga.) teams of the old Chattahoochee league, and the hero of this narrative is Jimmy Parks, centerfielder of the West Point nine, who numbered among his teammates several members of the old Atlantic Steel Company outfit, including Carl Eubanks, Hal Griffin, Bob Smith (the same), Farris Mize, Claude Satterfield and others.

A member of the Shawmut club slammed one of the southpaw offerings of the lean and irrepressible Jack Slappey on a line through the pitcher's box, over second base. Parks raced in to field the ball, picking it up about 20 feet back of the bag, and without hesitation, turned it loose in direction of first base. The batter, who had loafed on his "single," arrived at the bag to find the ball, much to his surprise, resting in Griffin's glove.

With the enclosure of a stamped envelope, we will submit the proof.

BOYS WANT GAMES.

Leonard Seligman, 31 W. Center street, Carrollton, Ga., of the sandlot team of that place, is anxious to arrange games for his club. Thus far only two games (with the DeKalb Barons) have been scheduled. Leonard is anxious to get opposition, he writes.

BOXING VETERAN SEES STIBLING AS KAYO WINNER

Open Chin Will Ruin Max, Tom McGinty Says.

By Ralph McGill.

STIBLING'S TRAINING CAMP, GEAGA LAKE, Ohio, June 15.—Get a load of this—or rather get a load of what Parson Tom McGinty has to say about the W. L. Stribling-Max Schmeling embroglio scheduled for the evening of July 3.

Parson Tom McGinty says that Max Schmeling's chin is as soft as a chorus girl in the Follies. Begone when he boxes and that W. L. Stribling, of Oehlockee, Ga., will punch him silly.

W. L. Stribling's left fist will put Max Schmeling's button plenty, and the button will read "down," he says.

MEET THE PARSON.

And who is Parson Tom McGinty? Well that's fair enough. He isn't the fellow who went down to the bottom of the sea. He has been handling fighters for 35 years. He seconded Carl Tremaine and Bryan Downey and plenty others in important contests. Right now he is managing a pretty fair slasher in the light heavy class, Rocky Rosales.

Tom McGinty went to Connecticut Lake park Sunday to see Der Moxie work.

"His chin is open," says Parson McGinty, "when he hits with his right."

Pa Stribling was around and so the fight reporters asked Pa.

"W. L. has always been hard to hit with a right," said Pa, "and it is true that Max leaves his chin open when he uses that right it will be a good break for us."

"It was a left hook that did for Von Porat," said Pa. "He has right hand that Jack Sharkey feared so much that he asked a mere $100,000 to fight him. W. L. hit him with left hooks to start him down."

AND PHIL.

"And Phil Scott was a real boxer. He was outboxing Jack Sharkey all the way and if the referee hadn't refused to make Sharkey keep his blows up Phil Scott would probably have won the fight."

"It was a left hook to the body that did for Phil Scott."

"And don't think that W. L. hasn't got a right. It was that right hand that put Martin Burke out and first caused Tex Rickard to take a real interest in W. L. Continued Pa, and W. L. knocked Primo Carnera down with a right to the jaw."

"I hope that the boys have the decency to let Schmeling use his right hand, and leave his chin open when he does. If he does, W. L. will certainly be greatly obliged," concluded Pa, as he gathered his golf sticks together and departed in search of birds.

Johnny Risko, one of the original Stribling men, was another who watched Schmeling box Sunday.

"I still think Stribling will win," said Rubbery Blubbery Johnny Risko. "He is faster."

BY MAXIE.

This seems to be an optimistic day. Do not, however, think that Max Schmeling roars or cocks that right hand, or strikes a strange pug with either hand. He can be hit with a left, however, but if he lands with either hand he is going to hurt.

And he was. Pa got up early and went hustling into a meeting of Cleveland's fistic politicians who call themselves a boxing commission. They decided the fight want anything to do with the big bout at the meeting today. Some day a mayor is going to appoint some men to watch something about boxing to a board.

W. L. did his road work and played nine holes of golf. That injured blade with two lefts to the head and a moment later knocked him out with a right to the jaw.

A fairly good crowd, considering the weather, turned out for Jimmy Johnston's promotional venture. He sold practically all of his 11,000 $1 tickets. The right side chairs were well filled and customers were still coming in as Redmond was carried out.

Most of the fight fans ordinarily seen at Madison Square Garden were gathered around the ring. Commissioners Muldoon, Farley and Phelan all were present, and Bernard Gimble, Eddie Egan and Charles Francis, Coo occupied front row seats.

Carnera, who entered the ring first, wearing his regal purple robe, weighed 257 1/4 pounds, while Redmond, wearing a brown striped bathrobe and a bewildered expression, was said to weigh 245. Even when standing up he looked small beside the huge Italian.

By simple addition you will arrive at the conclusion that when these two left their corners almost 520 pounds on the hoof occupied the center of the ring, which stood the strain pretty well.

Carnera started right after Redmond, who managed to edge his way into a clinch. As they came out Primo drew that arm of a left hand to Redmond's jaw and the Irish giant went down to rock on his shoulder blades with his sword, feet extended in the air. Although he got up, it was evident that the performance was not going to last very long. An instant later, Primo socked him on the chin with a right and this time Redmond rolled on his face and lay peacefully on the canvas until his seconds came from his corner.

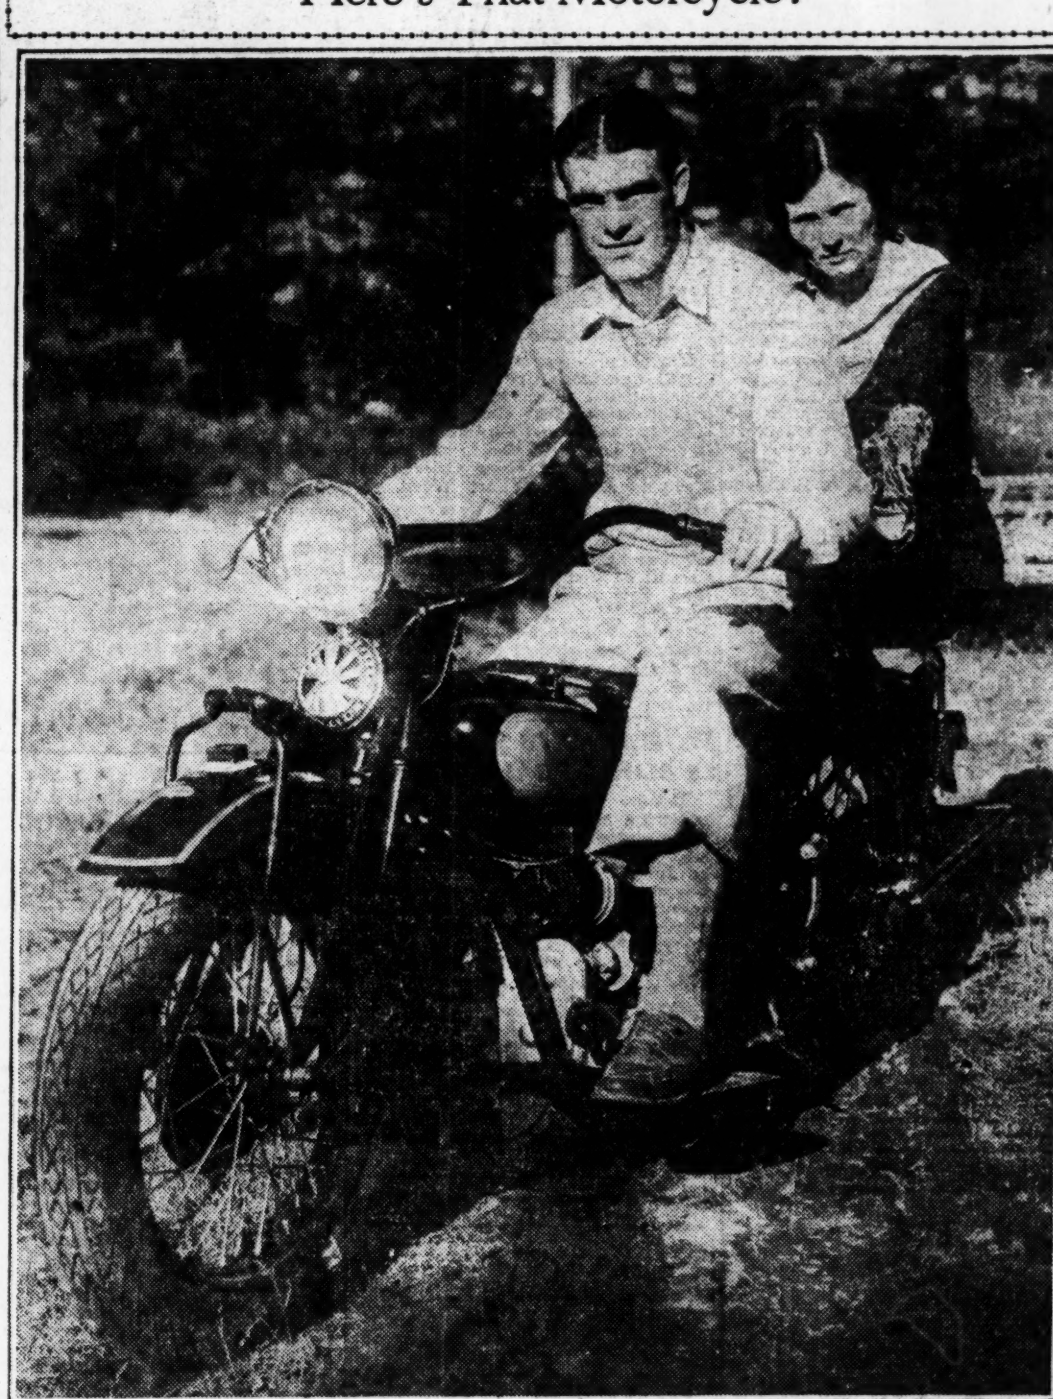

Ernie Schaf, also objected to starting out in the rain in the semi-final which followed the main bout, so he proceeded to knock out Jack Gagnon in 46 seconds. This is said to be the fastest time in which Gagnon has ever been knocked out.

BABE HUNT LOST.

BOSTON, June 15.—(AP)—Paul Swiderski, Syracuse, heavyweight, lost to Babe Hunt, of Ponca City, Okla., a terrific battering to gain the decision in a 10-round bout tonight at Braves field. Swiderski weighed 187 1/2 and Hunt scaled 192.

Here's That Motorcycle!

If you have followed the doings of Young Stribling with Ralph McGill, Constitution staff writer, you know all about the above machine. It's the motorcycle an admirer of the heavyweight challenger presented to him at his Geauga Lake training camp and the one that was barred by "Pa"

Stribling and the one that injured Herbert Stribling's ankle and knocked him out of a fight. W. L. and his mother are shown on the machine. "Pa" refused to let W. L. ride the thing, but while the boss was in Atlanta for the Latzo-Bozo fight, his son sneaked a ride.

PRIMO KAYOES PAT REDMOND

20,000 Fans See Carnera Drop Irishman in First Round.

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the New American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 15.—Primo Carnera added another to his list of victories tonight when he stopped Pat Redmond in 2 minutes and 24 seconds of the first round.

Previous to this he had Redmond down for a count of six. Redmond landed one real punch during the engagement, a right to the jaw, which Primo disclaimed to notice. Carnera then put Redmond down for the first time with two lefts to the head and a moment later knocked him out with a right to the jaw.

A fairly good crowd, considering the weather, turned out for Jimmy Johnston's promotional venture. He sold practically all of his 11,000 $1 tickets. The right side chairs were well filled and customers were still coming in as Redmond was carried out.

RIGHT-HANDER IN FAIR SHAPE; WORK NEEDED

Game Under Lights Tonight Opens Five-Day Home Stand.

Andy Chambers, former University of Georgia pitcher, and prospective Cracker, reported at Spiller field yesterday and took his first workout.

Chambers has been studying in Harvard law school and has kept in fair shape. Yet yesterday he looked a little soft and seemed to be in need of considerable toil before he will be in shape to be added to the active list.

Johnny Dobbs will take the young man in hand at once and bring him along as fast as he can.

The Crackers came home from Memphis yesterday and took a day of rest. The Chicks arrive today to open a five-game series of which three games will be played at night.

"Ladies night" will open the set tonight at 8 o'clock. Games will be played Wednesday, Thursday, Friday night, Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

Chicks To Miss Taylor in Opener.

MEMPHIS, June 15.—When the Chicks open a five-game set with the Crackers in Atlanta Tuesday, the Tribe will be without the services of Tommy Taylor "Handy Andy" man recently acquired from the Pelicans who shared in the tribal victory over the Crackers here Sunday.

Taylor has been granted a leave of absence to return to New Orleans to move his family but may rejoin the Chicks in time for the game Wednesday and surely for Thursday. Taylor will continue to play one of the outfield jobs.

Walter Beck, the big tribal right-hander who had established a record of seven victories and four defeats before being knocked off the mound in his last four starts, has been selected by Chief Prothro to take a fling at the Crackers in the opener of the series.

The Chicks will get their first taste of illuminated baseball in Atlanta, although some of them played several night games in Little Rock last season. Beck has pitched under the lights before.

Memphis Club Obtains Andy Reese.

OAKLAND, Cal., June 15.—(AP)—Andy (Handy) Reese, formerly utility infielder for the New York Giants, was traded by the Giants to the Memphis club of the Southern association by Oakland of the Pacific Coast league.

Reese's departure was one of several moves made by manager Earl Zambach, which also saw the outright release of John (Hank) Deberry, Dazzy Vance's battery partner for many years on the Brooklyn Robins.

Oakland will be joined in Seattle tomorrow by Hugh McMillen, catcher obtained from Minneapolis of the American association; Carl Lind, former Cleveland second-baseman, also from Minneapolis; and Outfielder George Blackberry, from the White Sox.

Roscoe Shepherd, a pitching ace of last season's Memphis club, rejoined the Chicks today. Shepherd was sold to the New York Giants last fall, but injuries received in spring training kept him out of the game and caused him to revert to Memphis. He reported today, announced ready for action and was added to the roster.

It was stated that waivers would be asked on Huey Harmon, last season's star pitcher, and a pitcher in Atlanta, to make room for Shepherd.

Woman Club Owner Dies at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Florence Killian Boley, 29, vice president of the Milwaukee Women's baseball club, died today at the Milwaukee general hospital after an illness of two weeks.

She was perhaps the only woman who ever directed the destinies of a baseball club. She was the owner of the Milwaukee Brewers. The Milwaukee club came into her hands February 16, 1929, when her father, Henry F. Killian, died.

Directors of the club made her president and she assumed direction of the team. She followed the players into spring training camp and on road trips during the season. Through 1929 and 1930 she "bossed" the Brewers.

High regard for the girl president was held by her players and business associates.

In 1930 she was married to Dr. Charles J. Boley, Milwaukee physician. Later she voluntarily relinquished leadership of the club. Miss Boley was elevated to chief executive. Mrs. Boley promised her support and became vice president and manager of the board of directors.

Glenna To Continue Golf After Marriage

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—Glenna Collett, United States Women's golf champion, today said she had no idea of retiring from competitive golf on her marriage June 24 to Edw. H. F. Vire, the wealthy Detroit airman.

"Why should I?" she asked when told that there were rumors she would announce her retirement. "I don't know of any reason why a married woman shouldn't play. A lot of them do."

She said she had no definite plans as to what tournaments she would enter but that certainly was not to be taken as an indication she intended to retire.

Stribling's Fan Mail Packed With Laughs

Girl, Promised Engagement Ring, Implores W. L. To Tell Her Who Will Win.

By Ralph McGill.

STIBLING'S TRAINING CAMP, GEAGA LAKE, Ohio, June 15.—One of Uncle Sam's finest mail carriers is getting hump-backed lugging mail into the Stribling camp.

And at least one-third of it is from folks who are a little bit batty in the upper berth, so to speak. It seems a shame for an honest, hard-working stamp, with a picture of George Washington himself on it, to be responsible for some of the balmy letters that arrive at the camp.

Just as a sample—

There was a letter yesterday from a man in Maryland, my Maryland, who was all excited because he had found a picture in the newspapers showing W. L. Stribling and Max Schmeling shaking hands.

"Why, that Hur might have been one who shot down some of our brave boys," said the patriot, forgetting that Maxie was just a dirty-faced kid of about 8 when his country thumbed its nose at the whole world and went to fighting. This patriot in Maryland asked that Strib apologize to the world for mitting the Dutchman and then go out and lick him to a frazzle.

Now, isn't that sweet?

And today there, came a pippin. It was from a young lady in Virginia.

"MY DEAR friend, Mr. Stribling," she wrote in a straggly hand, "I am dropping you a few lines hoping you will answer my letter by return mail. Please don't turn me down on this, as it means a lot to me. I am a young girl 17 years old and my fellow said that if you win from Schmeling he will give me an engagement ring."

"Now, I know you are the only one who can answer the question of whether you are going to win, so please write and tell me, as I will be a heart-broken girl if I don't get the ring. You have been in love yourself, so don't fail to let me know if you are going to win."

This, of course, is a very serious matter. And what a pity it is that W. L. can't give the happy couple the low-down on the fight right now and not make the young lady wait until July 4 to get married. The young man is evidently hoping to win a bet and then, buy the ring.

JUST QUEER.

There are letters wanting photographed pictures and autographs. There are letters wanting to tell fortunes, others asking to be permitted to cast a horoscope and still others asking for money.

The life of the challenger is a difficult one when he is in the city, any city.

"FRIENDS," TOO. A "friend" of the Striblings almost got himself shot trying to crash the cottage at 3 in the morning. Another made a touch the last night.

Carnegie Foundation Pleased With Early Effects of 'Bulletin 23'

YEAR AND HALF OF CORRECTION DOES WONDERS

Bulletin 26 Has Satisfied Tone; Much To Be Done Still.

By Alan Gould,

Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(P)—The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has discovered a notable advance in the attack upon recruiting and subsidizing in American college athletics since it exploded the bombshell of its famous "Bulletin 23" a year and a half ago.

"Much remains to be done," it says, and "the day may never come when our college sport will be completely freed from these abuses," which the foundation described in 1929 as the "deepest shadow that darkens American college and school athletics," but it believes now that "a number of influences for improvement are at work."

Coupling this with the conclusion that the "deflation of American football already has begun," through a decline in gate receipts and ballyhoo, the foundation's latest findings have been released in "Bulletin 26," written by Howard J. Savage, John T. McGovern and Harold W. Bentley.

The authors used only 58 pages in noting the trends and effects since they stirred the college athletic world in 1929 with the 833-page "Bulletin 23," but they have extended their studies from 130 to 164 schools, colleges and universities.

Far less sensational than its predecessor, both in tone and text, "Bulletin 26" is devoted chiefly to an examination of changes within and without college walls, designed to better the relationships between sport and the educational process.

Its chief findings are: (1) The assumption of greater responsibility for the proper conduct of athletics by university officers and trustees, and (2), the notable attempts to eliminate abuses which have their roots in the prevalent commercialization of American college sport, despite evidence these abuses are practiced more actively, though less obviously, in some cases.

The foundation finds that the "efforts to reduce recruiting and subsidizing of college athletics," are not confined to any one section of the country or to any single group or kind of institution.

Max Schmeling's Career

Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, was born in Klein Luckau, Germany, a small town not far from Berlin, on Sept. 28, 1905. His father was a pilot on liners which plied between Germany and America.

At an early age, little Max decided to become a sailor like his dad. But Frau Amanda Schmeling, his mother, discouraged him. "One sailor in a family is enough," she'd say. "Kleine Max, you must stay on good, safe land."

No. 1---Boyhood

By R. J. Scott

MAX SCHMELING
At the age of six months.

As a schoolboy Max was proficient in athletics. He played soccer football and tennis and swam a great deal. At 14 he won the school wrestling tournament. As a boy he did no boxing, as Germans then knew little of the ring.

Max had other interests, too. He liked to read. When still a schoolboy, he read German translations of many of William Shakespeare's plays. His favorite authors included Jack London.

TWENTY GRAND WILL NOT ENTER $50,000 DERBY

Whitney Star's Next Appearance To Be in Dwyer Stakes July 4.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(P)—Well on his way to pass Gallant Fox as the leading money winner of the American turf, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand's next appearance under colors will be the renewal of the Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct, July 4.

James Rowe, trainer of the three-year-old champion, decided today not to ship the great son of St. Germans and Boone west for the $50,000 added American Derby at Washington Park next Saturday. He will start in the Dwyer, however, and then go to Chicago to fulfill his engagement in the $75,000 classic at Arlington Park later in the month.

Twenty Grand has been named for all of the important three-year-old stakes and also the Saratoga cup and the Jockey Club gold cup. Victories would send his earnings well beyond Gallant Fox's record of $328,165. The Whitney runner already has won $164,075.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Frankfort Rice

Changes in College Sports.

Two of the features brought out in the recent Carnegie Foundation report have been in evidence for some time. One is the increasing interest in being a competitor as against being a spectator. The other is the line that is being drawn between universities of higher standards and universities a trifle more careless in regard to scholarship and general eligibility operations.

The report shows that the falling off in football receipts at times reached the total of 25 per cent. Part of this may have been due to somewhat harder times. Baseball hasn't suffered because baseball is a local affair where admissions run from 50 cents to $1. It costs much more to see most college football games.

Intercollegiate competition, however, is not breaking up. Some of the frenzy may be fading, but the intercollegiate side will always be the foundation of university sport. It is difficult to believe that leading American universities will ever come to the complete dominance of the intra-mural games.

There may be a further decrease in intercollegiate competitions, but not to any marked extent. There will undoubtedly be greater care in the selection of opponents who provide a more equitable rivalry under the same handicaps of scholarships—handicaps from the athletic side.

Professional football is sure to take away part of the public at large. Many who were accustomed to seeing the Saturday college games now wait for the professional contests. This was shown at the Polo grounds last fall where over 40,000 saw the Giants and Green Bay Packers battle it out.

But the college side has nothing to worry about. There will be enough interest and enough receipts to handle the situation all along the line up to the modern college hero isn't what he used to be to the rest of the student body. He still gets his share of credit, but it is no longer badly overdone.

Hanging On.

One of the features of this present sporting season up to date is the gallant way Walter Johnson's Senators are hanging on to the smashing pace set by Connie Mack's Athletics.

With Grove, Earshaw and Walberg bowling over the enemy day by day, Johnson's team refused to be discouraged at any stage of the early pace. Washington put on a big winning streak of its own to keep only a few strides away with the half way mark just around the corner of July.

Late last fall, with the pennant won, Connie Mack remarked one day that few knew how the Washington team came to forcing the issue up to the last battle. "They had been closing in on us," he said, "and had us badly worried. They had just beaten us two games and seemed to have the third won by a wide margin in the 7th or 8th inning."

"We happened to turn in time and win out by a last inning rally, and that one game made a tremendous difference as it broke the Washington rush and gave us another breathing spell. Washington will give us all the trouble we are looking for next year."

This prophecy has come true so far. The Mackmen have run up from every other rival, but Washington has refused to be shaken loose, which is further proof of the fine spirit that Walter Johnson has put in his club. And Johnson also has the pitching to keep on his way.

Ryder Cup Matches.

The Ryder cup matches get under way next Friday at Scioto, Columbus, where there will be enough keen competition to round out a busy week-end. The British have had rough sailing at medal play in various opens, but they have a far better record at match play where they are well ahead of their United States rivals.

For example, Walter Hagen has had remarkable success in winning British opens. But at the same time he was taking heavy beatings at match play from Archie Compston and George Duncan, who seemed to be different golfers in the match play side of the argument. Abe Mitchell is far better at match play than he is at medal. So is Duncan. So is Compston. So are the Whitcombes.

The odds favor the United States side, but not as heavy as many seem to think. In the meanwhile, Columbus and the mid west have gone along in a big way to make their two golf shows at Scioto and Inverness stand out. There will be nothing drier or lagging on either occasion.

In Women's Meet

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—(P)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, was the medalist of the fifth annual women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament with a sub-par 76 in the qualifying test here today. She was one under par and one over the course record set by Glenna Collett in 1925.

Mrs. Perry Fish, of DeKalb, Ill., former women's western champion, was second with 81.

The medalist has held the trans-Mississippi title twice. She did not defend it last year.

NINE CREWS SET FOR RACE TODAY

Wind Hampers Final Drills on Eve of Poughkeepsie Regatta.

By Alan Gould,

Associated Press Sports Editor.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 15.—(P)—Old Man River kicked up such a fuss today, on the eve of the intercollegiate championship regatta, that naval headquarters along the banks of the Hudson prepared for another rough water battle for rowing supremacy. Cornell's heavyweights were favored to retain the varsity honors they won on stormy seas a year ago.

The Hudson has been so unruly for the past two years that five crews have gone beneath the waves before reaching the finish of the four-mile pull down the river. Columbia, in 1929, and Cornell, in 1930, equipped for a rough passage, rode the whitecaps to sensational victories. These two may fight it out for varsity glory late tomorrow afternoon but the entire fleet of nine crews in the big race will be prepared for fair weather or foul, with outrigger aprons. Specially built gunwales and other facilities calculated to keep the slim racing craft from shipping too much water.

Warm and sultry winds swept the river today, cutting short final workouts. Fair skies were probable, however, for the regatta throng of 50,000 or more spectators. If so, the crowds likely will witness one of the most spectacular races for college rowing championships in years.

Although the champion Cornell crew, seasoned veterans in all kinds of going, have been picked by the experts to repeat, the prospects pointed to at least a four-crew varsity struggle, under favorable conditions.

Camp followers of the undefeated eight of Washington, Columbia and Syracuse made no secret of their optimism.

California's strong boatload was conceded an excellent chance to break through, and upset the odds. Mike Murphy's Wisconsin varsity was the outstanding "dark horse."

Navy and Massachusetts Tech, which finished a fine third last year, apparently have improved since coming to the Hudson sufficiently to revive the hopes of their backers, but Pennsylvania seemed doomed to the second division.

Five of the 12 members of the All-Star Canadian lacrosse team were picked from the Brampton team.

MOONEY GIVEN SCARE IN MEET

Atlanta Star Almost Eliminated in South Carolina Net Tourney.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 15.—(P)—A new star, youthful Arthur Hendrix, of Lakeland, Fla., who came here unheralded, almost eliminated Jack Mooney, No. 1 seeded player, from the sixth annual South Carolina tennis tournament as the event opened this afternoon. Mooney came from behind to win, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Jack Beckman, of Charleston, favored to reach the finals, with Mooney, advanced by defeating William Robertson, of Charlotte, 6-1, 8-6.

Other singles results:

James Boulware, Tampa, Fla., went down before Jack Frost, Charleston, 2-6, 6-3, 6-0; Pete Boggs, Charleston, won easily over Charles Jager, Lakeland, Fla., 6-1, 6-2.

Grant and Gates Advance in Meet.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 15.—(P)—Three University of North Carolina collegians entered the fourth round of the Delaware state grass court tennis championships today. Ed Noemans eliminated Fred Roll, Penn. star, 6-0, 6-0; Lanoir Wright disposed of John T. Helms, of West Point, 6-2, 6-1, and later R. J. Vance, of Wilmington, D. C., 5-7, 6-1, 6-3. A second round match was won by Bryan Grant, University of North Carolina, from R. James, Navy, 6-0, 6-3. The North Carolinians were joined by another southerner, Ted Burwell, of Sewanee University, Tennessee, who scored a straight set victory over William Hoopes, of Wilmington, and eliminated Harley Shuford, North Carolina, 6-1, 6-2.

Edward Jacobs, of Pittsburgh, defeated Herbert Oriskany, of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-1, and later R. J. Vance, of Wilmington, 6-1, 6-0. Wilmer F. Coen defeated L. W. Tiers, of Princeton University, 6-1, 6-1. Berkeley Bell and Bruce Barnes, of Texas, advanced by default.

LEAHY NAMED AIDE.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(P)—Frank Leahy, Notre Dame lineman for the last three years, today was appointed assistant football coach at Georgetown University.

The Winner (S. D.) youth will assist Head Coach Tom Mills, who came to Georgetown after years as assistant to Knute Rockne.

Dick Daviscourt Wins Over Soldier Leavitt

"Stone Mountain" Hurtles Through Ropes and Is Injured by Fall; Lehman Wins.

By Walter Wilkes.

Not since the tragic fall of the Emperor Napoleon has there been such an earth-shaking tumble as Soldier (Stone Mountain) Leavitt took at Spiller field last night in the second and final fall of his match with Dick Daviscourt, the rugged California veteran.

Leavitt had won the first fall, and was hard after Daviscourt for the second when he made a fatal mistake in tactics by inaugurating a series of flying tackles. These are all very well for younger and nimbler wrestlers, but hardly appropriate for one of the Soldier's frankly robust build.

The first two partially went home, with some discomfort to the Daviscourt mid-section, but on the third try Leavitt plunged headlong through the ropes and struck the ground with a terrific impact.

Badly hurt, the human colossus made his way back into the ring, unconscious Leavitt could be lifted out of the ring and carted on an improvised stretcher to his dressing room. He finally came round, but doctors stated he had suffered a slight concussion as well as temporary injury to his spine. The fall came in 12 minutes.

ROUGH RASSLIN'.

There was little straight wrestling in the first fall of the match, both men resorting to rough tactics from the start.

It was fully 15 minutes before the

MATEE BLAMED FOR POOR RACE OF JAMESTOWN

Turfman Says Horse Was in Restraint in Belmont Stakes.

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, June 15.—A horseman of wide experience had some interesting comments on the running of the race for the Belmont stakes in New York on Saturday. What he says is not inspired by any disappointment over the result, because he bet on Twenty Grand, the big red horse which won as he pleased.

This man says that he does not know whether or not Matee was riding to orders, but thinks that, in any event, he did not get as much out of his mount as he might. He calls attention to the fact that the first three-quarters was run in 1:14 3/4, which is slow time.

According to his ideas, Jamestown is perhaps the greatest horse in training at a mile, yet at a mile Jamestown was hopelessly beaten. He declares that Matee had Jamestown under such restraint that he was fairly choking him in the early part of the race and thinks that he should have permitted the horse to run more freely and take advantage of the fact that Twenty Grand is a slow starter.

He says that, if Jamestown had been permitted to run and open up more of a gap, that it might have taken something out of Twenty Grand to make up the distance; but that, as it was, Jamestown ran Twenty Grand's race. He admits, however, that Twenty Grand probably would have won, but thinks the race might have been decided closer.

The fact remains that Twenty Grand is now a horse of proven greatness, a horse which may be classed with Colin, Sycamore, Man O' War, Flying Fox, and all the best of the past. Twenty Grand has the speed, the stamina, and the heart of a champion.

Look in the lost column and you will see that the Athletics are still out in front by a very comfortable margin. When managers of other clubs talk about the pitchers of the Athletics being unable to hold the pace, the wish may be father of the thought. Once in a while one of those pitchers may have a bad day, but on the whole, they still appear to have considerable stuff remaining.

Before the season opened, it seemed probable that the first division club in the American League would be Philadelphia, Washington, New York and Cleveland, and it still looks as if the chances of their finishing in that order are excellent.

DICK DAVIS COURT DEFEATS LEAVITT

The first, Davis' efforts to apply his famous headlock, as well as some attempts at arm locks, were frustrated by Leavitt's tremendous strength.

After 14 minutes and 16 seconds, the soldier managed to get a leg lock on the Californian, and fell backward with him to crash his shoulders to the mat.

Leavitt seemed cool and unweary throughout most of the match, but he was shaken out of his habitual calm by a vengeance by that drive through the ropes which put an end to one of the most dramatic bouts staged here in many weeks.

LEHMAN WINS.

Charley Lehman proved a shade too clever for Tony Catilano, the dynamic Italian, in the semi-final, forcing his rival to surrender after 45 minutes and 30 seconds of wrestling when he obtained two of his rolling armlocks in quick succession. Catilano was shaken out of his habitual calm by a vengeance by that drive through the ropes which put an end to one of the most dramatic bouts staged here in many weeks.

Fans got many laughs as usual from the Italian, whose scowl bears a striking resemblance to that of Mussolini himself. When Lehman was too hot after him, he would rush to hug the Monday Evening Post, and when he managed to get a hold on the Texan he would plant the words "I am a professional wrestler" in his detractors.

All in all, it was an excellent card, and the large crowd enjoyed it thoroughly. The next show will be held Wednesday night, June 23, it was announced.

Introducing a Golfer With Stage Sideline

This is just a short yarn to prove that nothing is impossible; that even vaudevillians can do queer things on a golf course occasionally.

Murray Howard, of the vaudeville team of Murray and Alan, stepped up to his ball on the ninth hole at Piedmont park yesterday. He had just got off a good drive, but the green was still plenty distant. The hole is 433 yards long.

Side bettors and his brassie. He swung. And the ball rolled into the cup for a 2. It just goes to show—Howard was playing with his father, Alan Howard, and Herman Howard. The Murray and Alan team is at Keith's Georgia this week.

PRESIDENT CALLS FOR OPTIMISM

examine searchingly the banking system which allowed wasteful speculation; a taxation system which intensified dumping of securities on a falling market and put an unfair burden on land and home owners; and a marketing system which lends itself to illiterate speculation.

Analyzing the depression he said its major causes rooted back into the World War or otherwise recovery would have taken place months ago, in spite of this country's contributing efforts in the way of wild speculation, loose and extravagant business methods, and unprecedented drought.

With the whole world plunged into hard times as the result of inheritances from the war, mounting armament, and huge taxes, it was inevitable, he added, that this country would be drawn in.

Marvelous resources in land, mines, mills, and man power, combined with good harvest prospects, were the underlying forces of recovery which, he said, would heal the economic wounds.

Congratulating leaders of industry and labor on their co-operation to maintain the American living standard, Mr. Hoover asserted that never in history had there been so little social disorder in times of depression. This, he said, was the result of the general efforts to maintain industrial peace and is a permanent gain in national solidarity.

He outlined expansion of useful public works, establishment of widespread federal employment agencies, and maintenance of the tariff as the greatest contributions the federal government can make to recovery without resorting to doles, federal operation of business, or a general lowering of the living standard.

Noting proposals that recovery could be expedited by revising the tariff, Mr. Hoover vigorously asserted that recovery would come from confidence in those mighty resources, those intellectual and spiritual forces, which have impelled the nation to a success never before known in the history of the world, he said in conclusion. "Far from being impaired, these forces were never stronger than at this moment. Under the guidance of Divine Providence they will return to us a greater and more wholesome prosperity than we have ever known."

MARION IS PREPARED FOR HARDING SERVICES

MARION, Ohio, June 15.—(AP)—Deceased with flags, Marion tonight was ready for the influx of the thousands expected to pay tribute to the memory of her most distinguished citizen, the late President Warren G. Harding, tomorrow.

Heading these to pay homage to the former president at the memorial erected in his honor by voluntary subscriptions was President and Mrs. Hoover, former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and Governor George White, of Ohio.

The Harding Memorial Association has completed the program for the dedication of the marble tomb in which the bodies of the late President and Mrs. Harding are interred.

Former President and Mrs. Coolidge are expected at 9 a. m. (E. S. T.) tomorrow and President and Mrs. Hoover and their party will arrive from Indianapolis about 1:45 p. m. (E. S. T.). They will go direct from the presidential special train to the memorial where the president will make the dedication address.

The Coolidges will be guests of the Harding Memorial Association at a luncheon at the Harding hotel at which the senators from Ohio, Simon D. Fess and Robert J. Bulkley, also will be honor guests.

Two radio chains will carry the dedication addresses beginning at 1:45 p. m. (E. S. T.) and continuing to 3:30 p. m.

SPRINGFIELD PROGRAM FOLLOWS OLD PATTERN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 15.—(AP)—When President Hoover comes to Springfield Wednesday, he will dedicate the reconstructed tomb of Abraham Lincoln, he will be reacting a scene of 57 years ago—a scene in which another president held the central figure.

In 1874 President Ulysses S. Grant came to Springfield to dedicate the tomb on behalf of the nation. "In his death," said Grant of Lincoln, "the nation lost its greatest hero."

There have been many changes made in the building of the monument. Reproductions of statues not yet molded in Grant's time lend new dignity to the memorial. Crypts of the family have been added, new entrances are provided, yet the occasion of 1874 and the formalities planned for Wednesday are much alike.

President Hoover's procession moving from the state capital to the Oak Ridge cemetery in automobiles will travel the same streets traversed by horse-drawn carriages in the procession of General Grant, past buildings and residences decorated again as they were then. The procession, too, will pass Lincoln's home.

On a platform in front of the monument, President Hoover is to speak of Lincoln. On almost that same spot, Grant gave one of the shortest and best-known addresses of his career.

M'DONALD TURNS LOSS TO VICTORY

BY FRANK H. KING.

LONDON, June 15.—(AP)—The labor government was defeated today in a surprise vote on a minor conservation amendment to the land bill, but quickly recovered and re-established its control of the house of commons by a slim majority of 14.

The defeat, administered by a vote of 232 to 208, came when many labor and liberal benches were empty. The government, refusing to look upon the setback as cause for resignation, speedily rallied its forces and, while screaming headlines announced the conservative victory to thousands of home-going Londoners, the counter-blow was delivered.

By a vote of 240 to 232. The government forced through closure on debate.

The temporary defeat was looked on as embarrassing if not politically serious, coming as it did on the eve of a vital vote tomorrow on a liberal amendment to the finance bill.

It was brought about by the fact that many liberals were absent from the house at an important meeting looking toward the solution of the major crisis which has featured British politics for a week and which tomorrow night may threaten the very existence of the MacDonald regime.

"BEAU IDEAL" HIT ON RIALTO SCREEN

One of the finest pictures seen recently is showing all this week at the Rialto theater. It is "Beau Ideal," the Herbert Brenon production which continues the story of "Beau Ideal," the sensation super-production of the silent screen which showed to crowded houses some years ago under crowded auspices.

Comparison between the two pictures is a demonstration of the tremendous advance of screen entertainment since it became audible.

The story of the picture, a story of the Foreign Legion. This time it is the story of John Geste, the survivor of the three brothers, and the love of the girl of the Foreign Legion, who, despite his enlistment in the Foreign Legion and his condemnation to the dreaded penal battalion of that organization, the girl fights to save him and, with the aid of the American, Ollis, succeeds at the end.

Loretta Young is the girl and a very charming and lovable heroine she makes.

Ralph Forbes as John Geste and Lester Vail as the American are the outstanding stars.

It is the making of the picture, however, that has most to do with its greatness. The scenes on the Moroccan desert and the wide sweep of the atmosphere of the tribesmen on the legion, display the touch of genius in Brenon's direction.

You'll like it; it'll thrill you, and you'll wish that you were a movie story as good as "Beau Ideal" available for screen production.

There is a "Mickey (Himself) Maguire" comedy as an added attraction on the bill.

RALPH T. JONES.
